Adlai Stevenson Dies During Trip To London

JUDGE THINKS TEACHER SHOULD PIN ON BADGE

Should school teachers be deputized as peace officers?

This idea is put forth by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, who presides over the juvenile division of Marin Superior Court, in a letter to the editor of the Independent-Journal which appears on page 28 today.

Judge Gardiner suggests that giving teachers this additional authority "might have a substantial psychological and practical value."

Asked to elaborate on this, Gardner said the fact of being a peace officer might give the teacher additional authority in the eyes of students, helping in control of schoolroom or camppus difficulties. Also, he suggested, it would give the teacher some legal protection in the event he had to use physical force to discipline a student.

Althought Judge Gardiner made no reference to it, the relationship of schools and law enforcement agencies in curbing use of marijuana by teen-agers (and even younger children) is under study by the Marin County Grand Jury.

There have also been recent indications that the trend toward complete permissiveness for juveniles may be in process of being reversed. The West Marin School District Board recently went on record in support of the right of teachers to use corporal punishment if necessary. Similar action was taken lately by the Berkeley Board of Education.

Heart Attack Blamed For Death On Street

COMBINED UPI & AP

LONDON—Adlai E. Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for president, collapsed today in a London street and died of an apparent heart attack. He was 65.

Stevenson, chief U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was in London on a private visit. He was passing the International Sportsmen's Club on Upper Grosvenor Street in Mayfair near the U.S. Embassy when he collapsed.

He was rushed by ambulance to St. George's Hospital near Buckingham Palace where he was later pronounced dead.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman confirmed his death but did not state the cause. He was stricken at about 5:15 p.m. (9:15 a.m. PDT).

Witnesses said Stevenson was passing the Sportsmen's Club with a friend, Marietta (Mrs. Ronald) Tree, when he collapsed in the street. The club doorman, James Yates, called for help from the embassy.

Mrs. Tree, who has the rank of ambassador, is the U. S. delegate to the U .N. Trusteeship Council.

A passing doctor stopped and tried to revive Stevenson with artificial respiration as he lay on the sidewalk but was unable to get any response.

Mrs. Tree also was said to have tried to revive him by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation but failed.

Another doctor arrived from a nearby hotel just as an ambulance arrived to take the stricken statesman to St. George's Hospital.

A spokesman at St. George's said Stevenson was declared dead at 5:35 p.m. (9:35 a.m. PDT).

In Washington a sorrowing President Johnson said "America has lost... its finest voice."

Stevenson, still addressed occasionally as "governor" because of his service as governor of Illinois, was famed throughout the world for his command of the English language — a fluency he exercised to great advantage at the United Nations in cold war debates with Russia.

The United Nations was shocked into subdued silence by the death of the man who had

Adlai Stevenson's last visit to San Francisco took place last month when he rebuked the Soviet delegate at the 20th anniversary commemorative meetings of the United Nations.

Mrs. John Fell Stevenson, wife of one of Adlai Stevenson's three sons, said today her father-in-law "seemed in perfect shape" when they saw him last months at the United Nations' anniversary session here.

She said her husband was en route to his investment firm office when she heard of the ambassador's death.

She did not know how he received word of the death.

Young Stevenson could not be reached for comment.

Citizens Defend Music, Skaters

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Man's right "to make music" and a child's right to scoot on a skateboard were defended by two Sausalito individualists at the midnight hour last night before the Sausalito City Council.

"I think people who make music always have something to give and something to say," declared Michael Bry. "My contention is a certain risk is necessary in order to be able to enjoy a full life . . . to legislate all risky things will kill the spirit . . . I think this ordinance goes too far."

Alexis Tellis told the council that to pass the proposed "disorderly conduct" ordinance "would be a terrible damaging thing . . . I live in Sausalito because it has a good deal of the laissez faire toward the individual."

Terming automobiles more dangerous than skateboards, he said he favors banning cars in the central district.

"One of the great joys in life, the joy of making music has to be done in privacy of your home," continued Tellis. "I'm not about to play a drum in the middle of Sausalito Boulevard, but if I happen to be up at Mayor Dyk's and have a couple of drinks and happen to play a harmonica, I don't want to be arrested for it."

The council discussed the subject until about 12:30 a.m., then put it over to Aug. 3, when there may be a re-draft of the ordinance and Police Chief Kenneth

Dobbs Says Planners Face Crucial Decision

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs, who resigned Monday after a lengthy closed session with the planning commission, said today the commission must decide if it "wants to be a group of philosophers or make decisions."

Dobbs reviewed some of the difficulties with planning in Marin that led to his resignation.

"I don't want anyone to get the idea that I resigned in a pique over the commission's action on Marincello," Dobbs said.

The commission voted down a density variance sought for the Marincello development, but on the same day asked Dobbs to recommend changes in the ordinance that would allow such urban developments as the planned city.

Dobbs, who recommended against the density change, said today that this was "poor timing" by the commission.

Dobbs said supervisors and commission expect planning to solve all political and human problems.

Philosophical decisions have to be made on planning, but they should not be made in relation to specific issues, he declared.

He cited the John Campbell application for a zone change on Bolinas Lagoon. This opened up lengthy discussion on how to implement the Bolinas Master Plan, along with discussion of open area zoning on the lagoon

Stevenson 'Was Tired' On Recent Trip Here

Adlai Stevenson was "very, very tired" when he was in San Francisco for the United Nations' 20th anniversary three weeks ago, Mrs. Clem Whitaker of Kentfield said today.

Mrs. Whitaker was with Stevenson numerous times while he was here and recalled one of his comments as "prophetic:"

"You know I won't live long enough to see current problems solved—but my son will," Mrs. Whitaker quoted him as saying.

"He was pessimistic and optimistic," she said.

Mrs. Whitaker has known Stevenson for 20 years, dating back to Chicago when he was active in Illinois politics.

"He felt that nothing was so important as world peace," she said.

Councilmen Set Hearing On Novato Taxing Plan

After one citizen complained at the proposal to triple Novato's city tax rate, the Novato City Council last night set for 8 p.m. on Aug. 25 a special budget hearing before setting the rate.

Last year the city of Novato had 33 cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation. A 92-cent rate is proposed for the new fiscal year.

George A. Amaroli of 11 Rebecca Way told the council that he and his neighbors were against the 30-cent tax increase for parks.

"Such an increase is not now in the public interest," Amaroli said. He said he did not believe in "cradle to the grave recreation."

City councilman J. Wayne Womack introduced a letter from Stanley Bailard of 47 Cambridge Heights, also protesting the increase.

The council had set the final budget hearing for its regular meeting on Aug. 24, but postponed it one day so it could hear arguments for an against the special 30-cent tax rate to raise approximately $100,000 for park purchases.

Little Girl Bitten By Rabid Skunk

A 6-year-old San Rafael girl yesterday received the first of a series of 14 anti-rabies injections, because she was bitten by a rabid skunk.

Debbie Ann Tuohy, daughter of Mrs. Gale Tuohy of 13 Sirard Lane, reached out to pet the "pretty kitty" as it walked toward her near the garage at her home on Sunday. It bit her on the right forefinger.

A San Rafael policeman found and killed the skunk. Tests at the Marin County Health Department showed it was rabid.

This was the fifth rabid skunk discovered in Marin County this year. Last year, there were 18 skunks among 21 rabid animals found in the county. But never before do health records show anyone bitten by a rabid skunk.

Debbie's bite was minor. But the series of 14 injections is rigorous and debilitating.

The little girl told her mother

Mariner All Set To Snap Mars Photos

PASADENA (UPI) — America's Mariner 4 space camera, acting on orders from earth, pinned its eye on Mars today and began the final, furious dash to snap the first pictures of the mysterious red planet.

Working on instructions from Pasadena's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, a key tracking station at Johannesburg, South Africa, fired the first of the crucial series of 134-million mile commands to Mariner 4 at 55 seconds past 7:27 a.m. PDT.

At 7:53 a.m. PDT, the good news came back — the 575-pound "cosmic eye" heard the order and obeyed by turning its sensors on the brilliant planet.

The first command also switched on Mariner 4's electrical power and started its television shutter to working in preparation for a 25-minute photographic sweep scheduled to begin at about 5:20 p.m. PDT today.

San Rafael Schools Budget Acted On Without Ballyhoo

Although the word "budget" was not on the agenda, three members of the San Rafael Board of Education last night approved for publication a $2.7 million budget for the elementary school district and one of nearly $3.8 million for the high school district.

About 10 people were in the audience when the action came at 11 p.m. Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona said the budgets had been left off the agenda through a simple oversight.

The action meant that any decision by the board on recent, vehement demands of high school teachers for salary increases must come at the Aug. 3 meeting. Public hearing on the budget and its final adoption are slated then.

No mention of the budgets was made until 10:50 p.m., when board members arrived at the agenda item of "other business." Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte then gave copies of each budget to board members.

Apparently told earlier that the budgets would come up, board members held a whispered conference just before coming to order after a 10 p.m. break. When the subject arose, chairman Walter J. Doll said he had queried the other two board members present on wether they wished to reach any decision on salaries.

Doll said he and board members Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Anita C. Strom had concluded they wished more time to deal with this problem.

The elementary district budget, as approved for publication, was $2,737,414. This includes an undistributed reserve of $122,734. High school district budget was $3,783,279, with a reserve of $182,898.

Absent were board members Walter R. Castro Jr., on vacation, and Carl J. Brown, attending summer school. Brown is scheduled to return in September.

Special Tax Considered For Mental Health Center

Levy of a special tax by the Marin Hospital District to finance its share of the cost of the proposed county mental health center will be considered by the hospital board at a special meeting at 8 a.m. Friday.

"We believe a levy of $150,000 to bring about construction of a $1.35 million mental health facility is a bargain for the residents of the Marin Hospital District," said Mrs. Marion C. Ibach, district president.

"It is comparable to the original construction of the hospital in 1952 when we built a facility now valued at $5 million for only $800,000 in bonds."

Amount of the tax will not be determined until it is learned whether land donated by the hospital for the center will be included in its share of the cost. The county will contribute $150,000 toward the center, and state and federal sources will provide $900,000.

Reserves Call-Up Estimate: 200,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The armed services have submitted tentative estimates for Reserve and National Guard call-ups totaling more than 200,000 men, it was learned today.

Informed sources stressed that the estimates were still for planning purposes in the event a decision should be made to order up Reservists and Guardsmen in the growing crisis over South Viet Nam.

Assembly Remap Order Issued

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court today ordered state officials to show cause why the court should not require reapportionment of the Assembly.

At the same time, in another case, the court ordered officials to show cause why the state court should not direct reapportionment of the California Senate.

Reapportionment of the Senate already has been ordered by a three-judge federal court, but the legislature failed to agree upon a plan by a July 1 deadline. The federal court has set Aug. 16 for a further hearing.

Kentfield Voters Authorize Hike In School Tax

The 25-cent increase in the Kentfield School District's tax rate was approved by 589 of the 1,080 persons who cast ballots in yesterday's election.

Dist. Supt. Howard C. Harmon said today final count of ballots, including absentee ballots, was 589 "yes," 491 "no."

"We expected a small turnout because of summer vacations, but yesterday's 18 per cent turnout of the 5,217 registered voters was surprisingly meager," Harmon said.

The vote authorizes the district to increase its general purpose operating tax relief from $2.25 to $2.50 per $100 assessed valuation. Other levies, not subject to limitation by the voters,

Approval Seen For LBJ Nominees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Party leaders predicted today the Senate will approve two of President Johnson's top nominees—Judge Thurgood Marshall to be solicitor general and Leonard H. Marks to direct the U.S. Information Agency.

Marshall

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in separate interviews they see no reason both the appointees should not be confirmed.

However, Johnson's selection of Marshall, a Negro circuit judge, to succeed Achibald Cox as solicitor general, aroused some Southern opposition.

Marks

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., said he believed the choice of the former general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as the government's chief trial lawyer was unwise.

The choice of Marks to succeed Carl T. Rowan, Negro director of the USIA, surprised many in Congress.

Marks was employed in various positions in the Federal Communications Commission, including assistant to the general counsel.

Disappearance In Sacramento Feared Holdup

Latimer

McCandless

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A trace of dirt, a bloody pair of glasses and abandoned cars were the main clues today as police sought two well regarded youths missing along with $1,200 from the store where they worked.

Missing since late Sunday were Philip K. Latimer, 21 and Michael McCandless, 16, the former a Sacramento State College student leader, the latter said by friends to be considering a priest's career.

Operating mainly on the theory the young men were victims of a robber, police centered their search in the south area, looking especially along the Sacramento River.

They zeroed in on that area yesterday after a University of California at Davis analysis of dirt from tires of one of the cars indicated it had been in the south area of the capital.

The pair were last seen Sunday night at the Food Emporium, a corner grocery store. An owner, Dell C. Cook, said they normally wouldn't have been working that shift, but he took the day off.

"This is the worst thing that's ever happened to me in my 15 years in business here. I wish I were a million miles away from here. I feel like quitting business," he sorrowfully remarked.

He said $1,200 was missing from a store safe, but presumed it wasn't stolen by the youths. Robbery is his estimate, and he added: "Imagine, doing something like this all for the sake of a few lousy bucks."

Latimer's car, with the key in the ignition, was found four blocks from the store.

A stolen car with Latimer's blood-stained glasses was found, and there were signs of a struggle inside the blood - spattered vehicle.

Atlantic Search Continues For Radar Plane Crewmen

Air Force officials announced that attempts would be made to salvage sections of the four-engine plane, and said the operations might help turn up the bodies of some of the missing men.

Officials said they have a good position on the point of the crash from one of the survivors, the navigator, Lt. Bruce Witcher.

Witcher, 27, of Redding, Calif., said he spent the last minutes before the crash fixing the position of the ditching.

Of the 19 men on board, three survived. Nine bodies were picked up by rescue vessels. Seven men were listed as missing.

Sailors Clean Up Oily French Beach Mess

CANNES, France (AP)—The sands of Cannes were mainly without stain today after toiling sailors of the U.S. 6th Fleet removed most of the gummy black fuel oil that had defiled the sparkling beach.

The bikini set reclined in the sun once again and hotel owners breathed a sigh of relief only 48 hours after the U.S. aircraft carrier Shangri-la accidentally dumped 3,000 gallons of oil into the limpid blue waters of the Mediterranean.

A howl of protest had gone up in this famed French Riviera sun spot as wind and tide carried the thick ooze to the beaches, turning the sand and the water slimy black. Owners of beach establishments began toting up damage claims to present to the 6th Fleet.

Bombarded with complaints, Cannes Mayor Bernard Cornut-Gentille sent a police launch to the carrier to protest.

Officers on the Shangri-la apologized,. explaining that the oil had been dumped near shore by error.

Swinging into action, the Navy sent a task force of 100 sailors ashore with shovels and trucks to haul away the greasy mess. Helicopters and small boats spread chemicals on the water to take the floating oil to the bottom.

Riots Continue

BEST-REMEMBERED PHOTO — Regardless of what other achievements Americans remember of Adlai E. Stevenson, who died unexpectedly today in London, almost everyone recalls this famous shot of Democratic presidential candidate Stevenson baring a worn shoe sole at a Labor Day rally in Flint, Mich., in 1952. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Parents Fear Polio, But Should Be Wary Of Crippling Mishaps

VAN DELLEN

Prior to the discovery of polio vaccines, parents dreaded summer because of the possibility that someone in the family might develop the disease. Newspapers reported the latest number of cases in the community, state, and nation. The polio foundations utilized these figures as an inducement to obtain contributions for research that ultimately paid off.

THE RESPONSE to this campaign was puzzling to me because polio was not a common disease. The appeal centered about the paralysis that disabled so many little victims. But during this time very little was done about accidents that were crippling children at 10 times the polio rate. "This is different," a parent told me, but it made no impression on me because a child is just as disabled from paralysis caused by an accident as from a disease.

It is time to consider this problem in its true perspective; accidents can happen to you and other members of the family. Furthermore, the rate is going up, and for every 10 deaths, 100 are totally disabled, often resulting from paralysis. More children between the ages of 1 and 4 die as a result of accidents than of the next six causes of death combined.

CHILD FATALITIES were at a record high in many cities last year. The majority were killed in traffic, usually when the youngsters ran out from the curb. These mishaps are difficult to prevent with our antiquated city block system. Our blocks shoud be three times as long with fences and underpasses. Parking should not be permitted except in garages or on lots.

Accident prevention among pre-schoolers is the parents' responsibility. They must understand that the average youngster is curious and unaware of the hazards associated with fire, boiling water, poisons, knives, electricity, leaning out of windows, and dashing across the street.

SAFETY IS common sense. Parents cannot prevent every mishap but they can eliminate the booby traps. "Don't do this and don't do that" only makes the child timid and dependent. Parents should guide by setting the example and taking advantage of every opportunity to teach a lesson in accident prevention.

DOBBS

Dobbs also cited a decision by supervisors to pass an emergency ordinance against small subdivisions pending a revised ordinance to restrict building on a square foot proportion basis.

He said such actions are taken without apparent regard to the extent of the decision.

Dobbs said he hopes his successor after he leaves county employ Jan. 1 will have a clear understanding of what is expected of him. He said this was never fully made clear to him.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said two men in his office, Asst. Administrator John F. Barrows and personnel analyst Martin E. Nelson, have been assigned to work with the commission in developing a new job description. The present job description, written in 1958, is "very pedestrian," Bruce said.

The description may spell out some of the challenges that face the county and planning.

Bruce also said the salary of $14,400 a year paid Dobbs would probably be raised. It is low, he said.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said yesterday that the salary would probably be greatly increased.

Bruce said recruitment will be open for anyone in the nation. He did not, however, discount the possibility of a promotion within the department.

"We never know what lights might be hidden under bushels," Bruce said.

Yesterday's story of the resignation in the Independent-Journal incorrectly stated that the late Walter R. Castro was on the board of supervisors and voted to retain Dobbs in January, 1964. It was former Supervisor William D. Fusselman who voted with supervisors William A. Gnoss and George H. Ludy to keep Dobbs. Byron W. Leydecker and Peter H. Behr sought to discharge him.

Guinean Ambassador to the U.N. Achkar Marof proposed an extraordinary meeting of the Security Council to pay tribute. Secretary General Thant sent a message of condolence to President Johnson.

And shock as well as sorrow was evident in Congress.

Johnson was notified of Stevenson's death by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who had received word by telephone from the U.S. Embassy in London.

Both the President and Rusk were at the White House for a luncheon honoring members of the Joint United States-Japan committee on trade and economic affairs.

Rusk also relayed the word to congressional leaders.

The death was announced to the House by Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., announced the death to the Senate, calling it "a great loss to the word and to the nation." Stevenson was a former governor of Illinois and longtime close friend of Douglas.

With the announcement, the Senate put aside debate on a housing bill and senator after senator arose for tributes to Stevenson.

Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, met earlier today with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart in London. He was on his way to New York from the Geneva U. N. Economic and Social Council conference. During the weekend he had met with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Stevenson was born in Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 5, 1900. He was the son of Lewis Green and Helen Louise (Davis) Stevenson. He was named after his grandfather, Adlai Ewing Stevenson, vice president of the United States during the second term of President Grover Cleveland.

Listeners may call in questions during the hour-long broadcast. It will be recorded for re-play at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Thief Borrows Use Of Victim's Stock

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Police are wondering whether a thief who robbed a downtown store of $3,000 in cash and money orders forgot his own tools.

Deputies Arrest Youthful Quartet

Deputy John O. Goff, assisted by Reserve Officer Richard Borba, said the apprehensions apparently cleared up two burglaries in Kent Woodlands and two in San Rafael police jurisdiction.

Booked in county jail at 5:15 a.m. today on two counts of burglary were Byron Richard Lindelli, 18, of 60 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo and Teddy Richard Schneider, 19, and Phillip Scherman Griffith, 18, both of 196½ Bothin Road, Fairfax.

Bail was not immediately set.

Fourth person arrested was a 17-year-old juvenile from Ross, booked in the county juvenile hall for investigation of burglary.

Deputy Goff said John A. Kneeland of 319 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, telephoned the sheriff's office about 2:35 a.m. He said he and his wife had been awakened by noises of someone walking in the house.

The two officers arrived shortly afterward and found both a front door and an outside basement door open, but no intruders.

Because there is only one main "gate" to the area, Goff drove to the stone post-marked entrance and waited.

At 3:05 a.m., a car driven by Schneider came down the road. The officers stopped it. Deputy Goff said a check of the vehicle, owned by the father of the 17-year-old, revealed the other three youths hiding within.

The officer said a key case owned by Mrs. Kneeland and a wallet owned by Alice Conradi, 110 Evergreen Drive, Kent Woodlands, were found on two of the suspects. Also in the car were three partially filled bottles of liquor, seven cans of oil, three flashlights and a black glove.

Goff said a telephone check with Mrs. Conradi, who had been asleep, confirmed her home had been entered by forcing a rear door. She said the wallet was taken from her house, along with the liquor and oil.

San Rafael police said the suspects will be questioned about break-ins yesterday at the home of Paul L. Larsen, 81 Brentwood Drive, in which a small amount of liquor, a radio, and about $5 cash were taken, and at the home of B. C. Mills, 81 Manderley Road.

A steam iron, towels and a bottle of beer were taken from the Mills home, officers said. They said all the loot has been recovered.

MUSIC

H. Huck, on vacation yesterday, can be present.

The ordinance, introduced as a result of the June crackdown on marijuana users and sellers, would prohibit blocking streets and sidewalks, forbid making insulting remarks or molesting other persons in or near public places, and would forbid drinking alcoholic beverages on any street, sidewalk, park or playground.

It would outlaw skateboards, coasters or toy vehicles on streets or sidewalks, and would prohibit playing musical instruments in public parks or on sidewalks within 300 feet of any dwelling, except during festivals, parades or ceremonies.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk said the road is for traffic vehicles, not skateboards, but said he might ride one himself if he were younger.

He mentioned long-playing drummers and saxophone players in Vina Del Mar Plaza who bothered merchants and said these instruments should be banned. Maybe harmonicas, ukeleles or accordions might be permitted, he suggested.

He said the plaza had reached a point where it was no longer useable by 95 per cent of the population of Sausalito.

Councilman Earl F. Dunphy called the ordinance useful, saying it gives the police department "some teeth." "I would go along with it," he said.

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay agreed to support the skateboard ban but said musical instruments should be banned only if they annoy a substantial number of people.

Any ordinance that prohibits some instruments but not all would not be a good law, said Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin. She favored outlawing skateboards in downtown business areas but not in the whole city.

Councilman Melvin S. Wax said the ordinances goes too far and would give a net result where there would be a "disregard for law rather than strict and proper respect for law."

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown noted that, although many complaints were received from the public which helped bring about the ordinance, the public had apparently remained at home—except for Tellis and Bry.

made the district's total tax rate $3.08 per $100 assessed valuation last year, so it could go to $3.33 with the approval voted yesterday.

With the $60,000 which will be raised by the tax hike, the school board hopes to end the 1965-66 school year with a $50,000 reserve fund.

"Had the increase not been approved, we would have had no reserve funds at the end of the year," Harmon said.

The increase also will provide money to pay $200 per year increases for salaries of all teachers in the district. This, plus the regular step increases under the former salary schedule, will total $37,000, Harmon said.

a bitter attack on the United States for its actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. He charged the United States with "dirty aggression."

An hour later when it was Stevenson's turn to speak for the United States, the U.S. ambassador departed from his prepared text to say:

"This is a commemorative occasion, although for a moment this morning I was not sure whether we were commemorating the birth of the United Nations or the birth of the cold war."

Stevenson said that he, for one, preferred the spirit of the U.N. Charter, and he added he suspected most of the delegates did, too.

"I must say the Soviet Union might do more for the peaceful purposes of the United Nations encouraging peaceful settlements than by attacking my country, which is defending a small country from aggressions," he added.

Then Stevenson delivered his prepared speech, which was a review of the accomplishments of the United Nations.

Sharp-Eyed Woman Earns Large Reward

MANSFIELD, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Florence Vendur, Kensington, Conn., was riding along U.S. 6 this week when she noticed two boxes falling out of a car ahead of her. She picked up the boxes and found $1,330 in cash and checks.

Police traced the money to the Corey Creek Country Club. Jack Marsh, club secretary treasurer, confirmed that the money fell from his car while he was on his way to a bank. He said it was all there, and gave Mrs. Vendur a substantial reward.

Masons Sign New Contract, End Strike

The story on labor picket lines and management shutdowns in Marin this morning was one down and two to go.

Last night, Cement Masons Local 355 reached a new three-year agreement with the Associated General Contractors Assn., calling for a package increase in wages and fringe benefits of $1.255 per hour. The hike will be spread over a three-year period, with a 40 cents per hour wage increase taking effect today.

The boost lifts current wages to $4.665 per hour.

Picket lines at the McGraw-Hill Book Co. building in Novato and the Dominican Upper and Lower Schools in Sleepy Hollow were removed today.

Business agent N. C. Green of Local 355 said he would set a date for voting on the agreement within a week. It needs majority approval of the 130 members of the local.

Meanwhile the deadlock between the Painting and Decorating Contractors Assn. and the Painters Union which has idled about half of the 450 members of San Rafael Local 83 remained in a limbo. The two sides are not even negotiating at this time.

Negotiations between the Bay Counties District Councils of Carpenters and two contractors' groups were reported close to producing a settlement today at the AGC building in San Francisco. The other management group is the Pile Driving Contractors Assn.

The union whose local 34 in San Rafael picketed the Grand Avenue Bridge job today for the second day, is striking for a 36-hour work week and increased travel pay.

MARINER

see the first three of the 21 photographs of the enigmatic planet some time Friday.

When it obeyed the first command today, Mariner 4 was speeding toward the planet at 9,970 miles per hour. At that point, Mariner 4 was 102,860 miles away from Mars, close enough so that the planet was far bigger in its field of view than the moon is to earth.

But scientists were at the nail-biting stage since they conceded they had no way of knowing in advance if the camera would work.

JPL Director Dr. William H. Pickering had this comment:

"I don't want to sound pessimistic, but I want to admit the possibility that we may get no pictures at all."

Pickering said JPL scientists would know Thursday morning whether the photographic phase of the experiment had collected "reasonable data."

Each picture will take eight hours and 35 minutes in transmission.

The pictures may provide new information on the Martian terrain — features about two miles long should be visible—but even without photographs the mission is considered a scientific success.

$6.4 Million Novato Sewage Plan Proposed

A master sanitary sewer and treatment plant plan, designed to take care of needs of 205,000 people expected by the year 2020, was presented to the Novato Sanitary District board Monday night.

The $12,000 plan was prepared by John H. Jenks and Blaine L. Harrison of the firm of Jenks and Adamson, consulting sanitary engineers of Palo Alto.

It lists three choices for development of the district. The district can adopt one, two or all three as it develops for the next 55 years.

The first calls for division of the area into five service districts, each with its own treatment plant. This would cost $5,420,000, Jenks estimated.

The five service areas and their ultimate populations listed were: Novato, 102,000; Ignacio, 41,000; Black Point, 26,000; Bahia, 8,000, and the airport-Burdell area, 28,000.

The second plan calls for two treatment plants. One of these would be located at the Airport-Burdell area and one at Black Point. The cost of this was estimated at $6,410,000.

The third plan calls for one large plant in the Black Point area with pressure pumping plants in each of the other areas. This was estimated to cost $6,360,000.

Because of the increased use of the Petaluma River and San Pablo Bay for water activities, the report recommends that the district aim ultimately at adopting the third plan, which would pump the waste far outi nto San Pablo Bay.

The master plan recommends that in the future, the district first have the five plants. It then recommends that these be combined into two plants and ultimately into the one large plant at Black Point.

It also pictures major collecting mains going out Novato Boulevard west of Stafford Dam, up the Petaluma River to the county airport, and west then along Highway 101 north to the county line. It also calls for increasing the size of the mains in the collection system.

'Efforts Unhurt By Teach-Ins'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson doesn't believe that "teach-ins" and other recent criticisms of his policies are encouraging the North Viet Nam Communists to increased aggression.

He said yesterday, however, that such publicized criticisms and differences of opinion may cause the people of South Viet Nam and Allied governments some concern about American unity in the crisis.

"But I don't believe it's serious," the President said.

He added that he also doesn't think public criticism of the administration's Viet Nam policies have "damaged our efforts out there."

Housewife Conquers Matterhorn

ZERMATT, Switzerland (UPI)—A 35-year-old Geneva housewife today became the first woman to scale the dangerous north wall of the 14,701 - foot Matterhorn. The ascent came on the 100th anniversary of the conquest of the mountain.

The surprise climb of Mrs. Yvette Vaucher and her husband stole the spotlight from two other mountaineering teams whose ascent was televised throughout Europe by Swiss engineers who scattered 10 tons of equipment at strategic places along the route.

The two other teams, one Swiss, the other British, reached the summit ridge five hours after the Vauchers. Two other Swiss climbers, Hilti von Allmen and Michael Darbellay, also conquered the north wall today.

The feat of the Vaucher couple was reported by Scotsman Ian McNaught Davis, leader of a British team, during one of his live broadcasts from the massive peak. It had not been previously announced the Vauchers were climbing the almost perpendicular face.

Swimming Champ To Lead Cystic Fibrosis Campaign

Mrs. Ann Curtis Cuneo, Olympic swimming champion and director of the Ann Curtis Swim School in Las Ranchitos, has been named honorary chairman of the Cystic Fibrosis Week drive which will be held in Marin beginning Sept. 12.

Mrs. Cuneo's appointment was announced today by Mrs. Frederick Frauens, president of the Marin Council of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

In accepting the chairmanship, Mrs. Cuneo said: "Although the outlook is much brighter today for cystic fibrosis children than it was 10 years ago, there is still much to be done. Each contribution made in the coming drive will help to support and enlarge the network of teaching and research centers . . . seeking a control for the disease."

Cystic fibrosis, once thought to be rare and always fatal, has been found to be more common than supposed; with early and expert treatment, however, many afflicted youngsters are now living into adulthood.

City, County Aides To Meet On Courthouse

Two county officials will meet with two San Rafael officials at lunch tomorrow to discuss goals and any differences in goals in the pending sale of the county courthouse, County Administrator Alan Bruce said today.

He and County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell are to meet with City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen and Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

The county hopes to sell the downtown block for 1.4 million dollars to help finance construction of the hall of justice at the Civic Center.

The San Rafael City Council last month expressed concern over future use of the property. Bruce said the county also is worried about future use, but the land must be sold.

Planners Put Crimp In City Towaway Habit

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

A San Rafael garage owner has been towing away abandoned cars for the police for nearly a year without a permit for the lot where he stored them.

This came to light last night as Richard Isi, owner of the Isi Automotive Service at Lincoln Avenue and Irwin Street, appeared before the San Rafael Planning Commission to request a use permit for car storage in a lot on Jordan Street, across from the rear of Davidson Junior High School.

He was refused the permit, by 3-to-1 vote, and told the commission he did not plan an appeal to the city council.

'ALMOST PUBLIC SERVICE'

"There'll just be some wrecks on the streets tomorrow that won't get towed away," said Isi.

The youthful garage owner said he tows the cars away when called by police and stores them in the lot, which he has fenced. "I keep these abandoned cars for 15 days and sell them to junk dealers for $10 or $15," he said. "This lot and everything that goes with it is actually almost a public service . . . You can ask any police officer what it amounts to."

"What's the first time you learned you needed a use permit?" asked Commissioner V. Judson Kline.

"About a week ago," said Isi.

"And you've been towing these cars away for the police for a year?" inquired Commissioner Carl S. Brown in a tone of unbelief.

"Nearly a year," said Isi.

He claimed he had only been told he must have a use permit because the commission two weeks ago turned down an application for a wrecking yard permit in another Jordan Street lot.

That operator, however, dismantled the cars, sold the parts and junked the bodies—quite a different operation from the public service Isi performs, he insisted.

Vernon Stroh, chief clerk of San Rafael city schools, appeared at the meeting as Isi's application was being discussed—in time to say he had come from the board of education meeting with instruction from the board to protest issuance of a permit for an auto storage yard so near Davidson School.

"These cars have to go some place," said Commissioner Brown, who wound up casting the lone vote against denying the permit.

"They don't go across from Davidson School," said Kline as he moved denial.

San Rafael Postpones Cluster Rules Action

A proposal by City Planner George H. Rodgers to permit "planned unit development" in all residential zones of San Rafael was criticized as too restrictive at last night's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The proposal would allow cluster developments in all residential zones—particularly in single-family and duplex zones, Rodgers said. It would permit the planning commission to waive requirements on lot sizes, minimum lot widths, etc.

Richard H. Olmsted, architect of 740 Del Ganado Road, Terra Linda, and Walter Freitas, whose family owns a large still-unzoned parcel of land near the Northgate Shopping Center, objected because it did not also permit the commission to waive density limits.

Olmsted proposed adopting an ordinance for "planned unit development" recently enacted by the City of Fremont, which permits a maximum density increase of 35 per cent, with criteria spelled out minutely. Rodgers said the Fremont ordinance is 50 pages long.

Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. suggested it would be much simpler to just add the words "and density" to those things for which the commission could grant variances.

No action was taken, however, the hearing being continued to July 27, when the commission will again consider the proposed slope policy ordinance. The latter was returned by the city council for additions. Rodgers said he would have the slope policy ordinance ready for the July 27 meeting.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

1. Approved, 4-0, rezoning of 6 H Street from apartments to general commercial, as requested by Philip S. Bundschu.
2. Rejected, 4-0, rezoning of about half of a two-acre parcel on the north side of Bayo Vista Way from single-family to garden apartments, as sought by Paul Sade. A petition of protest with 36 names was supported by several speakers from the neighborhood. Rodgers recommended denial. Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole arrived late so did not vote on this and the Bundschu rezoning.
3. Heard no protest on zoning Northgate Industrial Park Unit 2 as a heavy commercial and manufacturing district. Second hearing on this will be July 27.
4. Received one protest against rezoning property of Wilkins Post, American Legion, at Fourth and Union Streets (the present city recreation center) from apartments to general commercial. James Eilers of 22 Seaview Avenue wrote that commercial should not be permitted so close to San Rafael High School. This will also get a second hearing July 27.
5. Heard no protest to the commission's own proposal for rezoning the Francisco Boulevard Assessment District from heavy commercial-manufacturing to planned commercial and light industrial, also to be heard again July 27.
6. Set for public hearing July 27 a proposal by Roger Sobel for a shopping center, yacht harbor and commercial attractions on 17 acres along Canal Street, abutting the San Rafael Canal.
7. Approved the final map of 39-lot Terra Linda Unit 23, south of Montecillo Road and west of the Meadows, by Alameda Homes Corp.
8. Put over to July 27 architectural approval for 74 townhouse units on Channing Way across from the Unitarian-Universalist Church, requested by Broderick Investment Co.
9. Denied unanimously W. J. Mounts's tentative map for a four-lot subdivision between Oak View Drive and Ridgewood Drive, essentially the same map turned down by both commission and city council in 1963.
10. Renewed for another year the tentative map of Peacock Gap Unit 5 of 172 lots for Peacock Gap, Inc., which was conditionally approved July 28, 1964.
11. Renewed approval of a use permit for Gulf Oil Co. to build a service station at Bellam and Francisco Boulevards, which would expire Aug. 11.
12. Granted Paul Ciampi use permit and architectural approval for two warehouse buildings on Belvedere Street between Alto Street and Bellam Boulevard.
13. Granted Don Lamberti use permit and architectural approval for a miniature golf course on Vivian Way across from the Country Club district.
14. Granted the Emporium a one-year permit for 24-inch-by-24-foot "Open Tonight" neon signs on two faces of its building in the Northgate Shopping Center. Commissioner Pat Hetherton dissented.
15. Denied unanimously (with only four votes as Hetherton had gone home at 11:30 p.m.) architectural approval for another duplex on a lot which already has one, between Highway 101 and Lincoln Avenue. The lot lacks street frontage. Clinton Properties was the applicant.
16. Granted architectural approval for a Short Stop Store (a small grocery described as a "convenience market") at Lisbon Street and Bellam Boulevard, requested by Paul Friendshuh.
17. Granted architectural approval to Sessions Development Co. for an International House of Pancakes, a chain outlet, running from Fourth Street to Second Street near their convergence at the Miracle Mile.
18. Granted Eugene O'Connor architectural approval for an apartment house at Mission Avenue and Wilkins Street.
19. Denied unanimously Thomas San Filippo's application for a permit for a sandblasting operation at 37 Bay Street.

Commissioner John A. Miskimen was absent. The commission has only six members since resignation of Charles J. Hendrickson.

Quentin Escapee Pleads Guilty On Two Counts

Burton S. Kaiman, San Quentin inmate scheduled for trial in Marin Superior Court yesterday for prison escape and auto theft, instead pleaded guilty to both counts.

Judge Harold J. Haley sentenced him to at least a year on the flight charge and one to five years for the theft, both to run concurrently with Kaiman's present term for auto theft from San Diego County on Feb. 18, 1962.

Trial of a co-defendant, Thomas A. Buckley, also facing both charges, was rescheduled for Aug. 3. Buckley is serving San Quentin time for illegal possession of narcotics.

The men allegedly escaped Sept. 16 and took a car owned by Robert Keith Bell of San Rafael. They were recaptured in Los Angeles County.

Downtown Parking Space Rules Voted Over Protest

Expansion of San Rafael's downtown parking district to include business properties both east and west of its present limits was suggested last night by objectors to a proposal to include parking requirements in all commercial and industrial zones of the city.

The proposal, however, was before the San Rafael Planning Commission, whose members hastened to explain that they have no jurisdiction over the parking district.

"Take your proposition to the city council," urged chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr.

The planning commission, by 4-0 vote, recommended city council passage of the proposed ordinance amendment. Chairman Robbins abstained from voting. Commissioner John A. Miskimen was absent. The commission is short one member of its full strength of seven.

The amendment, recommended by City Planner George H. Rodgers, would require off-street parking be provided as follows:

For retail stores, one parking space per 200 square feet of floor area; for offices and service establishments, one per 300 square feet; for general commercial, warehousing and industrial establishments, one per 2,000 square feet or one per five employees, whichever is greater.

These are the same provisions which now apply in "H" zones—those with parking requirements. Much of the commercial area and part of the industrial area are not in such zones now, however.

The requirements would not be applied to existing buildings, but to all new ones or expansions.

Don Abrams of Clark Sample Furniture Co. said his store and seven or eight others on Third Street near Mary Street lack parking even at the curb, and suggested the city should buy one of three old houses near by, tear it down and provide a parking lot for them.

S. K. Herzog Jr., owner of several parcels of commercial property, asked a "moratorium" on parking restrictions "so the property owners could extend the parking district." The downtown parking district underwrote purchase of city parking lot property to serve land within it.

Attorney Roger P. Garety, representing an owner of Fourth Street property, and Herman Deitsch, real estate broker, called extension of the parking requirements "condemnation without compensation."

Several other property owners also spoke against the amendment. Some joined Herzog in suggesting the downtown parking district be expanded.

"These people seem to be shy about going before the council to ask for a parking district," commented Commissioner Pat Hetherton. "If we pass this now, it will give them an excellent opportunity to do so."

Gold Goes Astray

LONDON (UPI) — Security men trying to locate a $28,000 load of gold bullion intended for air freight from London Airport to Singapore learned today it was sent by mistake to Australia.

Hawthorne observed that all of New England's old dwellings are "so invariably possessed with spirits that the matter hardly seems worth alluding to."

School Bond Passage Is Eased By Bill

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Governor Edmund G. Brown has signed into law a bill which would lower the minimum vote required for approval of school and library district bonds from 66⅔ to 60 per cent, provided the bond elections are held in conjunction with a statewide primary or general election.

The bill, AB 152 by Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus, D-Reedley, would not take effect unless the voters approve ACA8 on the same subject, at the November election next year.

The two measures represented a compromise from Garrigus' original proposal to lower the vote requirement, no matter when the election was held.

Needles Gets Hot

NEW YORK (UPI)—The highest temperature reported Tuesday to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 108 at Needles and Blythe, Calif., and Presidio, Tex. The lowest reported this morning was 42 at Pocatello, Idaho.

Assessment Districts Bids Called In Novato

The Novato City Council last night set in motion two long-awaited assessment districts: Center Road Assessment District No. 2, and Olive Avenue Drainage Assessment District.

The first will widen and add sidewalks, curbs and gutters to the section of Center Road between Tamalpais Avenue and the Lu Sutton School. The Olive Avenue district will enclose drainage ditches from the Olive School to the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

The council set Aug. 5 for opening of bids on both projects, and Aug. 17 for public hearing on establishment of the districts.

The engineer's estimate on the Center Road project was $70,346. Of this the city would pay $43,052 and the property owners, $27,304, according to Edwin Ness, assessment district attorney. No cost estimate was given on the Olive Avenue drainage district.

The Novato City Council Also:

1. Accepted the McClay Road hill project, the Highway 101 irrigation project, the Sunset Parkway connection, the Novato Pines subdivision No. 1, and Rancho Village Subdivision No. 8 as completed.
2. Rezoned a lot at Novato Boulevard and Tamalpais Avenue from single-family residential to administrative professional, as requested by Dr. Daniel Aughney. Mayor Robert D. Carrow vacated his seat during this discussion and voting.
3. Amended the Loma Verde master plan to allow apartment housing on 34 acres west of Highway 101 at Dusel Court.
4. Authorized annexation proceedings for four acres adjacent to Bahia development along the Petaluma River for a sewage treatment plant.
5. Accepted the resignation of Kenneth Morrison from the parks and recreation commission, then failed to name a replacement for him after a 45-minute closed discussion.

Marinwood Names Duerr To Head Fire Commission

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District last night appointed Donald A. Duerr of 386 Johnstone Drive to the Marinwood Fire Commission, replacing Henry Biggers, who resigned in May.

Directors discussed the $100,549 budget for fiscal 1966 and agreed to discuss it further at the regular meeting tomorrow before adopting it.

They agreed that decision to purchase a new fire truck will be deferred until later in the year because it will take time to write specifications and go to bid, secretary Genevieve Bolding reported.

The directors will leave a reserve of $1,500 in the budget in case a truck is purchased before the end of the fiscal year, she said. An earlier proposed budget included $6,000 for the first payment on a $30,000 truck.

Synanon Seems Safe In Marin

San Francisco police threatened today to arrest residents of the Synanon Foundation facility there for failure to register as former narcotic users, but a check in Marin disclosed residents at Synanon House at Marshall apparently face no such action.

Earl Cummesky, head of the Marin County sheriff's identification bureau, said 94 Synanon residents have registered with his office to date, plus recording five of their children as residents.

He said last group to register was six persons yesterday. Prior to that, nine registered June 8.

He said, however, that there have been no notifications of departures of residents of the Marshall facility, also a part of the law.

Ron Silva, agent in charge of Synanon's northern division of California, today said some 70 persons are now at Marshall, and the registration program has been followed by the group.

He said if any are not yet registered, they are newly arrived. He said the group has had "good cooperation" by Marin County law enforcement agencies, but that he was unaware of the requirement to register departures.

A few residents, registered earlier in Marin County, have left or been transferred, he said, but have registered at their new facility in accordance with the law.

Baget Urges Public Forum On 'Weekend'

What is the future of Novato's Western Weekend celebration and what direction should it go?

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget last night proposed a community-wide forum to discuss the future of the event, sometime in the fall.

He said this was approved by Kenneth E. Strockbine, president of the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the celebration.

Sausalito Woman Discovered Dead

Lois A. Rudine, 60, was found dead yesterday in bed at her home at 39 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito, by police called to the scene by Mrs. Sally C. Strapp of 49 Cloud View Road, who reported that Mrs. Rudine did not answer her door.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley said Mrs. Rudine had been dead approximately 13 hours. He attributed death to an overdose of drugs.

Mrs. Stapp said her friend had been despondent over a nervous condition, living alone and worrying about supporting herself. Her husband, Clifford Rudine, is in Menlo Park Veterans Hospital.

Besides her husband, a former dentist, Mrs. Rudine is survived by a step-son, Francis B. Rudine of Los Altos.

Private funeral was held today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley.

Water Permit Issued

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state water rights board has issued a permit to Alice M. Gatterdam of 33 Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo, to take three acre feet of water a year from an unnamed tributary to Stemple Creek and Etsero De San Antonio. She plans to use it for stock watering and fish culture purposes.

Shoes To Russia

LONDON (UPI) — The British Shoe Corporation said yesterday it has signed a $196,000 contract to sell 35,000 pairs of women's walking shoes to Russia.

CITY SAFETY EARNS PLAQUE

The city of Novato has not had a pedestrian traffic fatality in its four years of existence, and will receive a plaque in recognition of it.

The American Automobile Assn. notified the Novato city council last night that the city had been recognized for the record.

Lawn seed and fertilizer are now being packaged in their own spreaders. The seed or fertilizer comes in bags with dispensing holes at the top.

Dr. Sheppard Is Denied Rehearing On Jail Order

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Sam Sheppard was denied a rehearing today of a federal court order to return him to prison on a life sentence for the 1954 slaying of his first wife.

The split decision by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals sets the stage for an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court by the 42-year-old Cleveland osteopath who won at least temporary freedom last July 16.

Sheppard married Ariane Tebbenjohanns, a German divorcee he met by mail, two days after a federal district judge ordered him released from Ohio Penitentiary on grounds he had not received a fair trial in the slaying of his first wife.

The Sheppards have lived quietly in a Cleveland suburb, awaiting final action in the case.

The appellate court held by a 2-1 vote on May 5 that Sheppard's appeal did not show a violation of federal constitutional rights. Today's denial of a rehearing also was 2-1.

Sheppard's wife, Ariane, said he was in a neighborhood market when the word of the denial reached him. She added they had not yet reached his attorney, F. Lee Bailey, in Boston.

"We were prepared by Mr. Bailey that 95 per cent of such appeals are rejected, but we felt we had a good case and were hopeful they would rehear the case with the full bench," she said.

"What I am more concerned about right now is that he will be able to stay free on bond. There's no question about our appealing to the Supreme Court."

Setting An Example

LONDON (UPI) — In the House of Lords yesterday 23 peers each spoke for an average of 4½ minutes on a motion that "speeches in this House should be shorter."

Trustees Meet On Integration In Sausalito

Sausalito School District trustees, meeting last night with members of the citizens advisory committee, gave their greatest attention to immediate integration of primary schools.

The board, committee and an audience of about 40 discussed the "working relationship" between Sausalito and Mill Valley School Districts, reported Kenneth Lowry, administrative consultant for the office of the county superintendent of schools.

The trustees only action was to agree to make the committee's report on educational needs of the district available to all civic groups, teachers and staff, and any individuals who might oesire it. Thirteen members of the committee, headed by Robert Rogers attended.

MORE PEOPLE MEAN MONEY FOR SAUSALITO

Population of the City of Sausalito is officially 6,700, City Mgr. Charles A. Brown told the city council last night.

The new figure is an estimate by the State Department of Finance. It will mean an increase of about $4,000 per year in state subventions and grants to the city, Brown said.

Last official estimate of Sausalito's population by the state was 6,150 as of May 1, 1963.

Club, City Join Forces On Sausalito Project

"The Hole" in Sausalito — once part of the city's Shell Beach—will be landscaped and walks and benches provided under a Rotary Club plan approved last night by the city council.

The city-owned land, now completely filled, is near Parking Lot No. 3. Landscaping will include a portion of adjacent waterfront land which is leased by the Spinnaker restaurant.

Work will be performed by club members with assistance of the city's public works crews, said City Mgr. Charles A. Brown. Cost will be about $375 for the Rotary Club and $175 for the Spinnaker. In connection with the improvement, Councilman Melvin S. Wax asked that Herbert Madden be asked to remove two pilings in the water just outboard of the area.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

1. Approved spending $298 to build a guard rail at Richardson Street and Bridgeway.

2. Introduced a resolution establishing city employees' salaries for fiscal 1966.

3. Authorized agreement whereby Clipper Yacht Co. would dedicate to the city three areas on the Marinship master plan as future city streets and the city would relinquish to Ernest N. Kettenhofen a portion of one of the areas to be used for parking by him.

4. Denied and referred to its insurance agent a claim from Arthur Miller, 89 Cole Drive, Apt. 5, Marin City, asking $5,000 damages for having allegedly been stopped and his car searched by police on June 10.

5. Adopted an ordinance setting fees in Parking Lot No. 3 at 20 cents instead of the present 10 cents per hour, validation stamps used for merchants parking to remain at 10 cents and maximum charge per day to be $1.

6. Adopted an ordinance providing a loading zone on Bridgeway near El Monte Lane.

7. Acknowledged receipt of a California State Automobile Assn. pedestrian safety achievement citation.

8. Introduced a resolution thanking the state Attorney General's office for its cooperation in recent marijuana investigation.

9. Passed a resolution urging the Army Corps of Engineers to withhold all permits for filling in San Francisco Bay or tidelands until the bay conservation and development commission has become effective.

10. Referred to the planning commission an application by Sausalito Marine Corp. for a dredging and fill permit.

11. Approved tentative map of Charles F. Lindsay's subdivision for six single-family homes between Santa Rosa Avenue and Glen Drive.

12. Agreed in principle to a planning commission suggestion for a council-commission joint committee for closer liaison between the two bodies.

Sausalito Sets New Fire Truck Plans Rolling

Sausalito city councilmen last night asked specifications be drawn up for bids for a new fire truck, estimated to cost $35,000, to replace a 23-year old, 500-gallon pumper.

Fire Chief Charles E. Masten stressed need of the equipment saying the old truck is now out of service, being repaired by firemen.

The expenditure would not come from the fiscal 1966 budget since it takes 10 to 12 months to get the equipment.

Councilmen introduced an ordinance to adopt the 1965 fire prevention code.

Tax Protests Flood County

Protests on the Marin county assessment roll were expected to go well over the 400 mark by the 5 p.m. deadline today.

As of noon today, 350 protests had been filed. Some of them have already been heard by the Board of Supervisors, which is sitting this week and next as the county board of equalization.

Today's hearings were routine, compared with the test case heard Monday when Richard Clarke, attorney for the Correct Unfair Taxation group, argued for comparison of Tiburon property with property in Kent Woodlands which he said is assessed at lower figures.

Young Demos Favor Synanon

Marin County Young Democrats are in favor of granting a group-living use permit to the Synanon Foundation.

A resolution to that effect was passed last night by the Young Democrats, President Robert Black of San Rafael reported.

A member of Synanon will speak before the Young Democrats at the next meeting at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the San Rafael courthouse.

Young Democrats also commended the actions and policics of the Americal Civil Liberties Union.

Brandy comes from either fruits or grains.

San Rafael Schools To Share Span Cost

Ending a year and a half of negotiations, the San Rafael Board of Education last night authorized the city to call for bids on a bridge to link Glenwood School with Knight Drive.

The board agreed, subject to review of the bids, that the elementary school district will pay half of the cost of the 34-foot wide bridge, expected to cost more than $30,000.

It also authorized Supt. Bert C. Corona to work out an agreement withe the Marin Municipal Water District to accept a water line to the school and grant rights-of-way on district property.

Board members appeared more satisfied than did one teacher in the audience over Corona's suggestion they cancel a year-old policy allowing principals to send reports directly to the board without prior discussion with the superintendent.

In its place, Corona urged a policy authorizing him to make all such reports.

A San Rafael High School business teacher E. B. Gearhart asked hotly, "What is wrong with the present policy?"

Told by board members that is was "contrary to good administrative practice," Gearhart asked if principals' reports "should be edited by the superintendent."

Corona replied that he felt he "should have the right to review" the principals' comments. Board members agreed.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

1. Told Corona to work with Mrs. Nancy Parker, president of the San Rafael Council, Parent-Teacher Assn., to develop more effective ways for the P-TAs and the board to deal with each other, as urged by Mrs. Parker in a letter.

2. Hired three teachers: William Allen, 25, to teach science and mathematics at Davidson School; Mrs. Carol Whitlaw, 25, to teach physical education at Terra Linda High School, and Sam Wilcox, 25, to teach social studies at Terra Linda High School.

3. Sent the schools' chief clerk, Vernon Stroh, to the San Rafael Planning Commission meeting — in progress at the same time — to protest against issuing a use permit for an auto wrecking yard near Davidson School. The permit was turned down.

4. Agreed to meet in early fall with the San Rafael City Council and city parks and recreation commission to work out a new approach to school participation in the city recreation program. The board had earlier said it planned to cut in half the elementary district's annual $10,000 contribution.

5. Set an Aug. 17 meeting with potential members of a committee to help promote passage of a 50-cent increase in the elementary district's general operating tax rate limit at a special Oct. 12 election. Corona submitted a list of 172 families from whom to choose.

6. Approved a contract with architects Gromme and Priestly to build three tennis courts at Terra Linda High School to cost about $17,000.

7. Approved contract with education television station KQED for classroom broadcasts in grades three to six for $1,967.

8. Declined to approve a $393 contract with Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

9. Awarded contracts totalling $13,869.70 to a dozen firms for athletic supplies for the coming school year.

10. Set an adjourned meeting for next Tuesday to pass resolutions calling for the Oct. 12 election.

11. Adjourned in memory of Lauriston H. Tardy, head of the Terra Linda High School English department, who died June 30.

School Coffee Idea Cooled By Chairman

A proposal to lease two "Koffee Karts" for the cafeterias of San Rafael's two high schools last night brought a sharp warning from Chairman Walter J. Doll of the San Rafael Board of Education.

Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona said the machines would provide an ideal solution to the high schools' coffee needs, since teachers could prepare the coffee themselves.

Doll, however, raised his eyebrows at the cost: $395 to lease each machine for two years, with an option to buy.

Noting the elementary and high school districts' current financial pinch—and the salary demands of teachers—Doll warned that "some relatively small thing like this can create quite a bit of antagonism."

"I have a reaction," said Corona, "but I'd rather not state it publicly."

He said he would privately convey his views to each board member between now and an adjourned meeting set for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Another Closed Session Centers On Baar Changes

A two hour closed meeting, latest in a series between the San Rafael Board of Education and Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona, was held after the board's regular meeting ended at 11 p.m. last night.

It broke up at 1 a.m. today.

Corona said the three board members present authorized him to submit a report on the allegations of City Councilman Louis H. Baar at another closed session following next Tuesday's adjourned meeting.

A public announcement may follow that session, he said.

The probe has been dealing with Baar's statement at a May 17 city council meeting that he had information some San Rafael High School teachers intimidated their colleagues and were teaching things that could not be mentioned publicly.

Goldwater Trip Nearing Its End

BRIDGE CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—Barry Goldwater's 312-mile boat trip down the Colorado River, retracing the route of an adventure undertaken in 1939, is nearing an end.

The rapids became so rough at one point, Goldwater reported, that a helicopter airlifted the boats over sharp rocks.

French Display Armed Might At Celebration

Thousands jammed the Champs Elysees to see a parade featuring armored strike power and parading units of all France's armed formes.

Officials said that 9,000 troops of all kinds took part, including varied armored units, Alpine troops, navy and air force units.

Following the parade De Gaulle was host at a giant reception at the Elysee Palace.

Canal Street School Plans Gain Approval

The San Rafael Board of Education last night approved final plans for an elementary school on Canal Street and sent them to the state Division of Architecture for review.

Action was delayed, however, on preliminary plans for the Santa Venetia School gymnasium and library addition, partly because one board member balked at Supt. Bert C. Corona's suggestion to include four new classrooms.

Main discussion on the Canal Street school plans centered around the cost, which architect J. MacKenzie Cantin warned may be closer to $480,000 than the original estimate of $440,000.

Cantin said he would "have to go along with the state allocations board" which recently upped its allowances for all Marin County school projects by five per cent to cover cost increases. Also, he said, settlement of current strikes in the building trades may increase costs still more.

The school will have 13 classrooms, including a kindergarten, plus a library. It will have a redwood exterior, with decorative stucco panels. Some classrooms will have folding partitions to permit team-teaching when wanted; other partitions were eliminated in an "economy move" during the planning, Cantin said.

Noting that two board members (Walter R. Castro Jr. and Carl J. Brown) were absent, the members present decided to wait for at least one meeting before approving preliminary plans for the Santa Venetia School.

Brown, now attending summer school in another state, is not expected back until September. Castro is expected sooner.

The board was even more indefinite about the proposal to build four more classrooms, which Corona had suggested would fit in with his proposed proposed "middle school" program if board members adopt it for the 1966-67 school year.

Cantin said joining the classroom project with that for the library and gym would eliminate a $5,000 penalty imposed by the state because the latter project is a small one. Corona said the new classrooms would help reduce the overload at Davidson School, even if the middle school plan is not used.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer complained, however, that Corona was asking the board to "put facilities first"instead of choosing an education philosophy, then building to fit in with it.

Kramer said he had been convinced earlier by Corona's lengthy proposal for the middle school plan, but was now saddened to see the superintendent "sliding back" to a point where he favored the Santa Venetia classrooms "for a variety of reasons."

Cantin and Corona said it would be impossible to allow plans for the library and gymnasium project to wait until the middle school issue is resolved sometime this fall. Kramer, however, said he did not want to make a decision on the classroom project until that time.

East German Fails In Escape Attempt

BERLIN (AP)—An East German trying to escape to the West apparently was hit by gunfire from East German border guards last night, West Berlin customs officials reported.

They said that East German guards fired 10 times at the borderof West Berlin's southern Marienfeld section and screams were heard about 300 yards inside Communist territory.

Hub Ordinance Grounds Utilities

An ordinance that will put all utility lines in new subdivisions underground was adopted by the San Anselmo City Council last night.

The council pondered the effect the new ordinance, which will become law in 30 days, will have on the $2.5 million shopping center on an 11-acre site owned by Sunny Hills at Sir Francis Drake and Sonoma boulevards. Plans for the center do not include underground utilities.

The tentative map of the shopping center will go before the planning commission for approval at 8 p.m. Monday. City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said that if the tentative map is approved within 30 days, underground utility lines cannot be required.

"There are several problems which have to be worked out before the tentative map is approved," Flautt said today. "It remains to be seen if they are resolved by Monday."

The ordinance was adopted by a 4-1 vote, with Councilman Cedric E. Clute dissenting. He said he feared it might be thought that all subdivisions, no matter how small or where they were located, would be forced to bear the cost of expensive underground installation.

It was explained that all circumstances would be taken into consideration if an applicant for a subdivision requested a variance.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

1. Directed city Atty. John G. Buresh to prepare documents for condemnation proceedings for about 14,000 square feet of property owned by John Ongaro on the west side of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, south of its intersection with Center Boulevard. The city's appraiser valued the property at about $20,000. Ongaro's appraiser said the property was worth $57,000. It is needed by the city for addition to parking lot "A" in the downtown area.

2. Granted a lot split for Gertrude and Violet Fowler on Scenic Avenue, east of Plumas Avenue, overruling a turndown by the planning commission.

3. Confirmed waiver of slope policy by the planning commission on property owned by Gerald Misner at the end of Woodruff Road.

4. Approved a free-standing sign at the coin-operated car wash at 580 Redhill Avenue but referred complaints about noise created by customers during the early hours to the planning commission for consideration during review of the use permit application for the business.

5. Accepted street improvements on Bay Tree Land.

6. Set for Aug. 9 public hearing on abandonment of a portion of Creek Road, to be included in a property swap with Douglas Anawalt. The exchange will result in a city-owned park site on the creek.

7. Instructed Buresh to draw up an ordinance amending the city's animal regulations to bring them in accord with other ordinances in the county.

8. Approved purchase of a new fire department truck to replace the 1962-model truck which was damaged in an accident on Ancha Vista Avenue July 2. A 1966-model truck cab and chassis will be purchased from De Long Chevrolet Co. for $1,950, of which insurance will pay all but $200. The truck is used to haul hose and ladders.

9. Approved installation of improvements valued at $2,000 in two small areas adjacent to parking lot "A." The San Anselmo Homes Assn. reported $500 had been collected for purchase of trees and shrubs which its members have volunteered to plant as soon as the area is graded, a sprinkler system is installed and topsoil is laid.

10. Awarded a contract to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael for paving a portion of Center Boulevard in front of Guasco's Market on a bid of $1,000, lowest of three bids received.

11. Authorized filing of a complaint Barry W. Rogers of 25 Manzanita Road, Fairfax, for adding to and remodeling a house at 254 Redwood Road, San Anselmo, without getting a building permit.

12. Refused to reconsider denial of additional personnel for the city library, despite an appeal from the library board.

'Closed Base May Prove Big Asset'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a 52-page booklet complete with color pictures, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara argued today that a military base may be more valuable to a community once it is shutdown.

According to McNamara, communities from New Hampshire to Texas are turning shuttered military bases into assets.

Rather than an economic setback to the nation, McNamara said the closed bases become "valuable resources."

The Defense secretary said local communities were converting the bases for use as industrial, residential and recreational facilities. Some closed air bases are now being used as municipal airports and universities have taken over other facilities.

The use of the bases for new projects was a part of a report on military economies announced by McNamara.

At a news conference he said the Defense Department's cost reduction program had saved $4.6 billion during the year ended July 1.

Special District Bill Now Law

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown signed a bill today providing the method for urban tax and other special districts to merge into workable units.

The measure, called the Special District Reorganization Act of 1965, was authorized by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

"California today has some 3,500 special purpose districts, each with its own governing body and the authority to raise revenue," Gov. Brown said.

"Assemblyman Knox's bill is designed to reduce our multiplicity of special districts and promote a more orderly development and administration of local government," the governor said.

Heating Plant Study Still Not Certainty

Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce was directed Monday to recommend next Tuesday whether studies of a power and heating plant for the hall of justice addition should be continued.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported yesterday that the board of supervisors voted to continue the studies. That decision will be made after Bruce makes his report.

Hub Officer Volunteers For Pay Cut

San Anselmo Police Sgt. George Alberigi took a $65 per month cut in salary and a reduction in rank last night at his own request.

Alberigi, who joined the police force in July, 1959, asked the San Anselmo City Council to reduce his rank of sergeant to patrolman at a monthly salary of $628. He was earning $693 as sergeant.

He said he sought the reduction to relieve him from permanent assignment to the graveyard shift.

Officer Donald Nelson was named by the council to replace Alberigi as sergeant at a monthly salary of $660.

Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani said today Alberigi's request was made for personal reasons. Alberigi was made a sergeant in April, 1962, and has been working a night watch, as is required of San Anselmo police sergeants, ever since, the chief said.

Zone Change Is Termed 'Significant'

Mill Valley planning commissioners last night recommended that the city council amend duplex zoning regulations from a building type to a density control, in what planning director Harvey E. Bragdon termed "a very significant move."

The change would provide seven densities, from 3,000 to 5,500 square feet per dwelling unit. "This is a step toward more performance and standard development and less routine, mundane, rigid adherence to petty regulations," said Bragdon.

The commission granted John Kobil a permit for a used car lot at 507 Miller Avenue, and approved a plan for Santa's Toys at 419 Miller Avenue to convert the wing of the shop into either retail stores or offices.

Commissioners recommended to the county zoning administrator that an application motel be denied, since it is in conflict with the East Mill Valley plan.

Terra Linda Budget Set

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District last night adopted a tentative budget of $45,000 for fiscal 1966, an increase of $6,000 over the last fiscal year's budget.

Main reason for the increase is addition of another full-time fireman, said Cleo D. Murray, district secretary.

The new budget will mean a tax increase from 71 to 82 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The board set a public hearing on the budget for 9 p.m. Monday at the community center.

Wrong Date Given For Bicycle Day

The Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn.'s "Bicycle Safety and Rodeo Day" will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the clubhouse. It was announced incorrectly to the Independent-Journal that it would be held on Friday at 3 p.m.

The meeting of the association will be held at 8 p.m. Friday.

Meetings Changed

Regular meetings of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn. board will be held on the third Tuesday on each month at 8 p.m. instead of the second Tuesday, starting this month.

Pentagon Boss Admits Thinking Of Callups

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today the accelerating U.S. military buildup in South Viet Nam would force the administration to consider mobilizing the reserves and National Guard and increasing draft calls.

He told a news conference it also might be necessary to extend enlistments and tours of duty of men already in uniform. He had told congressional leaders earlier that he also would seek additional funds for the war.

McNamara did not spell out what point he thought it might be necessary to call up the reserves and guardsmen. Questioned on the point, he said: "I don't want to get into that."

The number of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam already is expected to rise to more than 100,000 by the end of the summer and further increases probably will be recommended by McNamara as a result of a new survey mission to the war area.

Before he met with reporters, McNamara told congressional leaders at a Pentagon breakfast that he would ask for additional funds to fight the war in Viet Nam when he returns from his inspection trip there and can pinpoint actual needs.

McNamara and President Johnson's new ambassador to South Viet Nam, Henry Cabot Lodge, leave tonight for Saigon to establish what "new and serious decisions" America may have to make in Southeast Asia.

They will be accompanied on the eight-day inspection trip by Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

McNamara told reporters he did not want to prejudge the results of the mission. But he said:

"I have taken no steps toward a callup of reserves or an increase in the draft as yet. The main purpose of our visit will be to determine the force level and the ammunition and supply quantities required in Viet Nam."

McNamara said there now are 65,000 "hard core" Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam compared to half that number a few months ago. They are aided by 100,000 part-time guerrilla fighters, he said.

Asked whether the war was changing from guerrilla to conventional fighting, McNamara said: "It is now a question of semantics whether you call it guerrilla or semi-conventional."

'Most Direct' Road Policy Is Killed

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed a bill abolishing a requirement that the California Highway Commission must select the most direct route for freeway routing.

The measure by Assemblyman Edwin L. Z'Berg D-Sacramento, allows the commission to bypass parks and other public facilities in the path of freeway projects.

The governor also signed three other bills by Z'Berg. They provided that:

—Local government agencies were entitled to a hearing before the commission if they opposed preliminary route studies submitted by the Division of Highways.

—The commission hire independent hearing officers to preside at public routing hearings instead of officials of the division.

—The division present at public hearings sketches or models of alternative freeway routes.

The bills are designed to insure that everyone in a community will have an opportunity to have his views heard on proposed routings. Brown said government must do "everything we can to insure the maximum local participating in the decision-making process."

Woman Stops Car, Another Hits It

Two drivers were injured at 9:05 p.m. yesterday when their cars collided in northbound lanes of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Highway patrolmen reported that Barbara J. Fox, 20, of San Francisco, had stopped her car on the bridge to check strange sounds coming from beneath it. The car was struck by that of William C. Byrd, 28, of 520 Eldredge Avenue, Novato. Miss Fox was treated for a sprained neck and scrapes, and Byrd for broken teeth, at Park Emergency Hospital, San Francisco.

Tiburon's City Payroll Is Listed

The Independent-Journal continues publication of salaries of public employees in Marin County, with salaries of those employed by the City of Tiburon.

Annual figures are shown for the present fiscal year.

Lawrence D. Rose, city manager, $13,200; Leslie G. Cross, administrator of land use, $9,300; Robert I. Conn, city attorney, $4,800; Mrs. Marian P. Comstock, administrative assistant, $5,100; Mrs. Doris Levine, clerk, $4,800.

A public works foreman is expected to be hired at $6,000 yearly and a half-time clerk at $2,600.

Manager's Salary

Chemical Blast

BAKERSFIELD (AP)—Eleven students have been hospitalized, two in critical condition, after a chemical explosion showered splinters of glass through a science laboratory at Bakersfield College. The explosion which ripped through the summer school class of 24 students yesterday apparently was touched off unintentionally by a youth mixing non-compatible chemicals not included in the class experiment.

Life expectancy in Greece, Rome, Egypt and the Eastern Mediterranean region in the year A.D. 1 probably did not exceed 30 years.

Jets Raid Only 32 Miles From Red Chinese Border

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Air Force jets bombed targets only 32 miles from the border of Communist China today while a task force of 2,976 U.S. Army combat infantrymen landed in South Viet Nam to build military strength there to more than 71,000 men.

A U.S. military spokesman said four U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets heavily damaged two trucks on a Highway 37 miles north northeast of Dien Bien Phu. He called it a point "further north than any target hit previously by U.S. aircraft."

Communist China has charged that American planes violated Chinese air space with attacks near the cities of Lao Kay and Haiphong but the United States has denied these reports. Today's attacks were among 99 flown north of the 17th Parallel.

In air action in the south, the spokesman said an estimated 180 American and Vietnamese planes pounded a single target —a two-mile square patch of jungle believed to be the hideout of a Viet Cong division and regional headquarters.

The infantrymen of the Army's Big Red One Division will be used on search and destroy operations against the Viet Cong active near the Bien Hoa airbase only 15 miles north of Saigon. They will join an advance unit as the only Army infantrymen committed to combat. U.S. Marines and paratroopers already have seen action.

Ten rounds of the mortar fire struck the edge of the airbase shortly before the infantrymen arrived. It was first thought to be a Viet Cong attack timed at the exact moment the troops were supposed to land but an investigation disclosed the mortar fire was part of a regular practice drill by a Vietnamese mortar unit which got off target.

Woman Is Named To Tariff Board

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson reached into the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) yesterday to choose the first woman member of the U.S. Tariff Commission.

She is Dr. Penelope Thunberg, a Phi Beta Kappa and an expert in economics who is currently deputy chief of the CIA's office of research and reports. Johnson introduced her at his news conference yesterday and said he was nominating her to the six-member commission.

FATHER WINS HIS WAY

Dr. Ben F. Lewis, having warned his son that if he didn't shed his shaggy bangs he would buy the boy a dog license, did just that yesterday in Lexington, Ky. While licensing the family's two for-real dogs, he also bought a tag for a breed he called "American Beetle" and whose markings he described as "boy with bangs." Son, Stephen, 15, wears his tag on his collar, but concedes maybe he'll get his hair cut today. (AP Wirephoto)

State Authorizes Funds For 'Cluster' At Granada

The state allocations board yesterday approved $172,715 in state funds for the Reed School District, to be used for an addition to Granada School.

The three buildings to be added to the school will house a teaching "cluster" for the team teaching school, library and administration offices, and teacher training center.

Total cost of the three buildings is estimated at $256,000. With furniture, equipment, inspection fees and other costs, the total will be $324,000, Acting Supt. John Fitch said.

Some state funds already have been allocated and more are to come, Fitch said.

Issues Commission

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issuance of a nortary public commission to Marion E. Jinks, 145 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo.

No Budget For Schools In Fairfax

The Fairfax School District Board failed to adopt a final budget for the 1966 fiscal year at a special session last night.

Supt. Homer Sisk said the board is having a great deal of trouble determining expenses because of complications in the state aid formula under the Unruh Education Act.

A final budget should be adopted next Tuesday, Sisk said.

Laurence G. Hermann was chosen board president for another year. Ray H. Barnes Jr. will succeed Harland B. Hennessy as the clerk, and George Stone will succeed Fay Jensen as trustee representative.

The board scheduled a public hearing on the new budget for Aug. 3 at 7:45 p.m. at Manor School.

Sisk asked that $1,640.74 be taken from the undistributed reserve and placed in the restricted account for special education to cover the increased cost of the district's program for educating the mentally retarded.

Sisk also reported to the Board that because the district has lost 14 pupils in total enrollment, its space entitlement under the state building aid program was lowered by 817 square feet. Because of this, the covered walkways planned for the new 10-classroom building on the Smith Ranch property were eliminated.

The Board voted to continue participation in the special milk program which makes milk available to the students at five cents for each half pint, the state paying the difference.

Buzzy Flies Home, Wants His Bath Now

AUSTELL, Ga. (AP) — Two years ago the George L. Wilsons found a baby red-winged blackbird in their yard, took it in and named it Buzzy. He soon became a house pet.

After 14 months Buzzy flew away. Now, nine months later, Buzzy is back. Mrs. Wilson said she knew it was Buzzy because his first stop after flying in through a window was the kitchen sink shower bath, one of his favorite spots.

Birch Charge Denied In Educator's Suit

The California Teachers Assn. and other defendents in a million-dollar libel suit by Drummond John McCunn, former superintendent of Contra Costa Junior College District, have denied any malice in an investigation report resulting in McCunn's dismissal in 1962, but repeated charges that he was "the focal point of district problems."

In a 16-page answer to McCunn's suit in Marin Superior Court, the CTA, California Assn. of School Administrators, and six men also deny McCun's charge that the report declares or insinuates he was a John Birch Societ member.

The answer also denies that the report intended to deceive or mislead anyone, and denies stating that 34 employees of the district because they were subjected humiliation and disrespect by McCunn.

Instead, the answer declares the report only stated that "all of the resigning administrators interviewed" had such a reason, and that no number was given.

The answer acknowledged a statement that McCunn had been "the focal point of district problems" for many years, and admits accusing McCunn of directing the change of grades for two dropout students from "F" to withdrawl, an alleged violation of board policy.

Defendents named in the suit but not yet subpoenaed are California School Boards Assn.; California Junior College Assn., and four "John Does."

Thomas E. Stanton Jr., San Francisco attorney filing the answer for the other defendants, said next step would be possible demurrers by the plaintiff. No trial date has yet been set.

Club's Plan For Aged Withdrawn

Application for rezoning for apartments on Monte Vista Avenue in Larkspur between West Baltimore and William streets, was withdrawn last night before an audience of about 80 opponents to the proposal at a Larkspur Planning Commission meeting.

The Soroptomist Club of San Francisco proposed building apartments for the elderly on the property, willed to the club by former Larkspur resident Mary Fraser.

Most of the opponents were against increasing the density of population in the single-family residential area, said Mrs. Isabelle Moore, commission secretary.

Representatives of the club withdrew the application.

Cranston Hits Muddle Of Tax Area Overlaps

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The tangle of overlapping tax jurisdictions is a key reason the property tax is out of hand — not only in California but in most states, State Controller Alan Cranston said today.

Cranston told delegates to the National Assn. of County Officials convention that California lives under 5,677 separate tax jurisdictions.

"And if you count each unique segment of this mess, you find 18,759 separate tax code areas make up the property tax map of California," Cranston added in a prepared speech.

"Some Californians pay property taxes to as many as 15 different jurisdictions," he said.

"This law will enable local officials to organize special district boundaries and functions into sensible patterns," Cranston said.

White House Session Has Classroom Tinge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson seems to be trying to improve not only his own public image but that of the press as well.

Bill D. Moyers, the new White House press secretary, tried out some new rules yesterday in an effort to reduce the confusion caused in the minds of television viewers when reporters pop up all over the room at news conferences shouting "Mr. President."

Moyers told the newsmen gathered in the East Room to keep their seats and hold up a hand, like they were in school. The President would recognize them, he said, and they could get up, go to a nearby microphone and ask their question.

To facilitate matters, Moyers had about 30 microphones scattered around the room. The men with the long-boom hearing devices, which can pick up a voice many yards away, still kept their equipment trained on the reporters.

While he was making a series of announcements at the beginning of the conference, the President was all but hidden by a television camera almost looking down his throat. The camera was linked to a prompting device.

When the announcements were over, the camera hastily was hauled out of range, the prompter disconnected and everybody was on his own.

Of course, not everything worked out as expected. A few times two reporters thought they had the presidential nod and started talking at the same time. One woman reporter, sitting in the first row, didn't bother to get up to ask the President two questions.

Liquor Stolen

Thomas E. Foley, 381 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, reported the theft of $160 worth of liquor from his home to the San Rafael Police Monday evening. He said the theft occurred Sunday night.

THEN THERE'S A LONG, LOW DATING CALL

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The simple act of whistling, says Dr. James Jordan of Emory University, has many phychological implications.

"Whistling 'Dixie' is an organized, orderly activity, consciously directed," he says.

"And when someone whistles 'I Feel Like a Motherless Child' or 'Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen,' it's a pretty good sign that he's down and out."

The average ostrich egg weighs about as much as two dozen hen's eggs, says the Book of Knowledge.

Hoover Brands Communist Diplomats Security Risks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Communist diplomatic personnel in the United States are a dangerous threat to national security, J. Edgar Hoover said today.

"The great majority of the 800 Communist-bloc official personnel stationed in the United States," the FBI director said, "protected by the privilege of diplomatic immunity have engaged in intelligence assignments and are a dangerous threat to the security of the United States."

In a fiscal yearend report pointing with pride to FBI accomplishments, Hoover said members of the American Communist party "continued to constitute a major disruptive influence on the national scene" during the year.

Hoover echoed the opinion of his superior, Atty. Gen Nicholas Katzenbach, in emphasizing that racial and student demonstrations that went on throughout the year were neither instigated nor controlled by Communists.

However, he said: "Communists used the opportunities presented in infiltrate many of the demonstrations and exploit them to their benefit in line with their own objectives."

Little Girl Bitten By A Rabid Skunk

of being bitten. Mrs. Tuohy called police. Patrolmen David L. Vargo and Roy Conyers responded. Conyers found the skunk staggering along beside the creek, close by Fifth Avenue, and shot it. The body was taken immediately to the humane society.

Prompt delivery by the police enabled the society to complete laboratory tests Monday, and Debbie began her inoculation series yesterday.

The Tuohys' cat, believed also to have been bitten, was placed under quarantine at the Marin County Humane Society.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said what happened to Debbie shows the danger from rabid animals, which is often discounted. She stressed that it was fortunate that Debbie promptly told her mother and that police promptly found and killed the skunk — which might not always occur.

Marin County has been a rabies quarantine area for nine years, because of recurring discovery of rabies among wild and domestic animals.

Ruddock To Speak

Belvedere Mayor Merritt Ruddock will speak to the Phoenix Society, an organization of fire fighting enthusiasts, at an 8 p.m. dinner meeting today at the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere.

Next Rabies Clinic Set In Mill Valley

The Marin County Health Department vaccinated 381 more dogs against rabies yesterday in its second clinic of 1965, held at Marion School in Novato. That brought the total protected in the first two clinics to exactly 800.

The third clinic will be held tomorrow from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Mill Valley corporation yard, at Sycamore Avenue on the extension off Camino Alto. Dogs must be four months of age or older, and must be held on a leash by a person 16 or over. The charge is two dollars per dog.

The series of six clinics will resume Tuesday night at the Ross School in Ross.

Cash Is Missing

Theft of $90 from a cigar box from the home of Thomas L. Starke at 530 Canal Street, San Rafael, late Monday night or early yesterday was reported to San Rafael Police.

It is estimated that Chalk Bluff in Arkansas contains enough chalk to supply the nation for many years.

Metaphysical Book Store New To Downtown San Rafael Shops

A new business in downtown San Rafael is the Metaphysical Book Store of Mrs. Katherine Chan at 918 C Street.

It is a first business venture for Mrs. Chan who is a retired San Francisco school teacher and librarian. She is a resident of San Rafael.

The metaphysical field is a wide one, she says, but she intends to cover it in the scientific, fictional and juvenile categories. As a member of the American Booksellers Assn. she has access to all publications and will give immediate service to even small orders which may have to be filled from the outside. She will also carry some used books and offer some rentals.

Larry's Pipe Shop is a venture of Laurence R. Griswold of Marinwood, former Federal Aviation Agency liaison officer at Hamilton Air Force Base and a resident of Marin about six years. His stocks are similar to those of the former Ludwig's Smoke Shop in San Anselmo.

THE ART CENTER (formerly Ludin's Art Center), 1327 Fourth Street, San Rafael has been purchased from Mrs. Florence L. Katz by Mrs. Bernice Brown of Ross. Some new lines in picture frames and art goods will be added. Mrs. Katz is retiring.

Mrs. Brown was formerly with Creative Merchandisers, Inc.

SACCONE BROTHERS, INC. will open its fifth United Market (its second outside of Marin County) about the first of December.

This will be in the new Bennett Valley Shopping Center at Yulupa Avenue and Bethards Drive, Santa Rosa. The Saccones have signed a long term lease for about 24,000 square feet. Louis Martinucci of Novato, now in United's Mill Valley store, will move to Santa Rosa as manager.

RICHARD M. ROSENBERG of Terra Linda has been promoted to assistant vice president in the marketing department, division of planning and development, at Wells Fargo Bank. Since joining the bank in 1962 he has been in the business services department.

FORMER MARINITE Richard R. Price Is Set For Pear Crop

SAN FRANCISCO — Cameron Girton, manager of California Canning Pear Assn., San Francisco, has announced that a price of $125 per ton on No. 1 Canning Bartletts has been established for this year's crop.

"Sufficient affirmative responses have been received from our offer to the state's canner to assure this price," said Girton. Last year's price for the same grade of fruit was $90 per ton.

The California pear crop is estimated at 170,000 tons this year, less than half of last year's crop. The California pack customarily provides well over half of the nation's canned pears and pears in fruit cocktail.

Market Closes Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today with trading more active than in recent sessions.

IBM gained 4, Eastman Kodak more than 3, Xerox 3 and Polaroid more than 2.

Colorado Fuel & Iron was actively traded and advanced well over a point on news of higher earnings.

Gains of a point or better were made by International Nickel, Douglas Aircraft and Boeing.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.7 million shares compared with 3.26 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losers.

After an irregular start the list edged higher, gradually picked up support and widened its gain. Plenty of soft spots remained, however.

Averages were helped by gains exceeding 2 for Eastman Kodak, more than a point by General Electric and a full point for New York Central.

Colorado Fuel & Iron responded to news of sharply higher earnings with a flurry of trading and a rise of about a point.

Xerox rose more than 3, Polaroid well over 2 and IBM about a point and a half.

Champion Paper advanced more than 3.

Up a point or so were Budd Co., Collins Radio, Fairchild Camera, Food Fair, McDonnell Aircraft, Philadelphia & Reading and the Reading Co.

Ford, Royal Dutch, Woolworth and Westinghouse Electric were among fractional losers.

Eastern and United Air Lines recouped about a point.

Bank's Customer Given Surprise

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 38-year-old steel worker who went to the bank for a $1,000 loan was amazed when the bank gave it to him as a gift.

Officials of the Marine Trust Co. of Western New York handed Henry A. Kawa of suburban Orchard Park ten $100 bills yesterday and marked his loan paid in full.

A bank spokesman said that last month the bank noticed it had granted 650,000 loans and decided to make a gift of a loan sought by its 700,000th customer.

Kawa was No. 700,000.

Marichal And Mays Share All-Star Hero Laurels

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS-S t. PAUL (AP) — Willie Mays came to the All-Star Game with a painful bruise and without his batting helmet. But when he left he had accomplished the usual—hit a homer, scored the winning run, set two records and managed to squeeze in his fence-crashing act.

Sharing the spotlight with San Francisco teammate Juan Marichal in the voting for the most valuable player, Mays played his usual key role as the National League edged the Americans 6-5 yesterday and took the lead in the series.

Mays cracked Milt Pappas' second pitch of the game for his third All-Star homer and 21st hit, breaking a tie with Stan Musial for the all-time high in the hit category.

In the seventh inning, Mays led off with a walk and then scored the run that broke a 5-5 tie after singles by Hank Aaron and Ron Santo. The two runs brought Mays' total to 18 in All-Star play, extending his own record.

In the eighth inning, with two on and one out, Dick McAuliffe tagged a long liner toward center. Mays took one step, slipped, then started racing back and made a lunging one-hand catch.

"I don't mind telling you I was scared to death," Mays said in the dressing room "I didn't misjudge it, but I slipped as I started to go back."

What about in the fifth inning when he chased McAuliffe's homer into the centerfield fence, leaping against it in a futile attempt to make the catch?

"I didn't think it was going over," Mays explained. "I know when I jump, I can get up over the fence, so I thought I had a chance."

Mays hit the fence with such force that he bruised the right side he injured in a home plate collision at Philadelphia Saturday night.

"I hurt—it hurt like the dickens," Willie admitted. "I jarred it, and I could feel it. But it'll be all right."

And the colorful array of batting helmets—Chicago blue and Cincinnati red and gray—that he used during the game?

"I didn't bring my helmet," said Mays, "and until I came into the dressing room and someone told me, I really didn't realize I was using different ones. I just picked up whatever fit. I didn't even know whose it was."

Mays might not have known what he was doing, but Marichal did, edging Willie in the most valuble player balloting 46-45.

The high-kicking right-hander stopped the American League on one hit through the first three innings, easily the most effective performance of the 11 pitchers used in the game.

But he did experience some difficulty with the height of the mound, slipping to the ground on his first pitch before realizing what the trouble was.

"It comes down too quick here," he pointed out. "I couldn't lift my leg up high the way I usually do. That first time I almost did the split. I tried to stop and one leg slid out under me.

"But I had no trouble controlling any of my pitches. I threw hard because I knew I didn't have to worry about going nine."

Someone asked about his second-inning single and a wide grin burst across Marichal's face.

"I hit that like a bullet," he said, raising his voice so Mays could hear. "And don't forget that started the two-run inning, and we won by just one run."

"Okay Juan, you're a good hitter," Mays said, laughing.

And Marichal had to admit:

"Willie, you're a pretty good hitter too."

THERE IT GOES!—The ball is just a blur as it leaves the bat of Willie Mays who smashed the second pitch of yesterday's All-Star game for a home run. American League pitcher Walt Pappas had just delivered the ball that was destined to wind up in the stands. (AP Wirephoto)

TICONDEROGA SMASHES HAWAII RACE RECORD

HONOLULU (AP) — Robert Johnson's ocean racer Ticonderoga sailed across the Diamond Head finish line 5 minutes 48 seconds ahead of South Africa's Stormvogel and set a new record in the 59-year-old Transpacific yacht race last night.

"It was the most exciting race I've been in," said Johnson, veteran of four previous races.

Officials could not remember a tighter race.

Ticonderoga, flying the colors of the Portland, Ore. Yacht Club, passed through a searchlight beam shining from Diamond Head at 10:51 p.m. — 1:51 a.m. PDT today — beating the 1955 record by more than one hour.

Police Sgt. Herbert Boyd estimated that 6,000 persons watched the dramatic finish from Diamond Head. Hundreds more lined the piers at the Ala Wai Yacht Harbor where the yachts docked.

Bullhorns, cheers and streamers greeted the crew as the yachts pulled into their slips. Crew members of the Ticonderoga and Stormvogel exchanged cheers.

Johnson, standing at the yacht's bow, waved at the crowd and said, "We bumped them for you," referring to his narrow victory over the Stormvogel.

The yacht, its crew cheering and firing a cannon, hit the end line with its spinnaker gulping wind at a 12-knot pace.

The 72 - foot ketch knocked down a record set in 1955 by the 90-foot ketch Morning Star. Ticonderoga's time was 9 days, 13 hours, 51 minutes, 5 seconds. Morning Star's record in 1955 was 9 days, 15 hours, 5 minutes and 10 seconds.

Johnson said he encountered some heavy weather that broke up gear and blew out sails. "It didn't hurt us, but it was expensive," he said.

It was Johnson's second consecutive first-to-finish victory. He placed second in 1961.

The Portland skipper came in near the end of the fleet in three previous races. He piloted the class A Zia in 1959 and 1961 and had the class B Gkroote Beer in 1957. The latter boat was built in Germany 20 years ago by order of Nazi Reischmarshal Hermann Goering.

Stormvogel put up a dramatic last-day battle that race officials described as "as exciting a finish as you'll see at a Kentucky Derby."

At least five other yachts were expected to finish by tonight. The Kialoa II was in third place 50 miles behind the leaders when the Ticonderoga crossed the finish line.

Race officials said good sailing weather prevailed throughout most of the 2,225-mile race, though the winds became heavy at times.

Despite the record time crossing for both the Ticonderoga and Stormvogel, race officials gave both vessels little chance to place in their class and overall fleet positions when handicapping is completed.

The Ticonderoga was in sixth place in fleet handicapping yesterday morning. Stormvogel was fourth.

Handicaps are figured on the basis of boat length, weight and sail area.

National Leaguers Too Much For A. L.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The most frustrated man in baseball today must be Joe Cronin. If he isn't, he should be.

Since he took office as president in 1959, his American League has won only two of 11 All-Star games while tying one. In the same span, the league has lost four of six World Series.

Genial Joe squirmed in the heat yesterday while the National League once again turned back his American All-Stars 6-5, despite blowing a 5-0 lead.

It marked the fifth straight defeat for the Americans in All-Star and World Series competition.

The National League, which once wanted to call the whole thing off when it found itself trailing 12 games to 4, has taken a lead for the first time since the competition began in 1933.

The victory, their seventh in the last eight decisions, has given the Nationals an over-all 18-17 lead.

The Nationals simply had too many guns yesterday. They outhit the Americans 11 to 8 and out-homered them three to two.

Then, when they needed stout pitching after the Americans had made up a five-run deficit, they called on World Series hero Bob Gibson. The St. Louis righthander stopped the Americans in their tracks.

With the Nationals ahead again 6-5, Gibson came in to pitch the last two innings. After giving up a leadoff double to Tony Oliva in the ninth, raising the hopes of the 46,706 American League partisans, Gibson quickly dashed them by setting down the next three hitters, two on strikeouts.

The crusher was his whiffing of Harmon Killebrew, the Minnesota strong boy whose fifth-inning two-run homer had tied the score 5-5.

As he has done in so many previous All-Star games, Willie Mays took the spotlight.

Willie didn't get any more hits in his leadoff role, but he walked twice and one of those walks developed into the winning run.

That came about in the seventh inning when he coaxed a pass off Cleveland left-hander Sam McDowell, raced to third on Hank Aaron's single, remained there while Roberto Clemente grounded into a force play and ambled home on Ron Santo's crazily bouncing single over second base.

"Mays was the difference," said Bobby Bragan, Milwaukee manager who acted as a coach under Manager Gene Mauch of Philadelphia.

"The turning point of the game was when Mauch put Mays in the leadoff spot. Willie set the tempo with his leadoff homer. Then when they tied it up, it was up to Willie to get the tie-breaking run — and he did."

For two innings, it looked like a breeze for the National League. Taking their cue from Mays, Milwaukee's Joe Torre and Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell followed with homers, each with a man aboard, and before the Americans had their first hit, the Nationals had a 5-0 lead.

"I thought for awhile we were going to win 15-0," said Mauch.

Canadian Open Gets Underway

TORONTO (AP) — The $100,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament headed into its first round today with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer assured of at least one thing — bountiful galleries.

The field of 144 teed off with the prospect of morning showers but partly sunny skies by afternoon. Nicklaus and Palmer were early-afternoon starters.

Both arrived yesterday and played a casual practice round in which no scores were kept.

But the two counted enough strokes over the last six holes to decide that Nicklaus was going to have to buy Palmer a dinner.

Palmer, from Latrobe, Pa., couldn't remember what he shot on the six holes but said jokingly that, whatever it was, Nicklaus was two strokes higher.

The two, who along with South African Gary Player headline the star-studded field for the 72-hole event which ends at the Mississaugua course Saturday, were in an agreeable mood even though they'll battle each other fiercely in the tournament.

San Rafael Legion '9' Wins, 15-0

San Rafael Wilkins Post 37 bombed Richmond with a 17-hit barrage yesterday on the losers' diamond and Ed Beckley posted his second straight shutout to give San Rafael a 15-0 triumph in non-league American Legion baseball action.

Ken Lampert had three singles and scored four runs, Bill Lee had a single, a double and a homer and 3 runs batted in, and Dave Beswick, George King, John Clifford and Sid Norman each had two safeties to lead the San Rafael attack. Beswick also had 3 RBI.

While all this was going on, Beckley was pitching his third shutout of the season, a two hitter. Only three balls were hit to the outfield off the righthander who struck out 13 batters and walked 3.

San Rafael, with a 13-8 season record, travels to Moraga today to take on Lafayette in another non-league game, 5:30 p.m.

Laver Picked To Win U.S. Pro Net Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The darkhorses were on the docket today as the $15,000 U.S. Professional Grass Court Tennis Championship got underway at Longwood Cricket Club.

The opening match pitted Sammy Giammalva of Houston and Barry MacKay of Santa Monica, Calif., once U.S. Davis Cup teammates, against each other. The other match puts Australian Frank Sedgeman against Luis Ayala of Chile.

The seeded entries were not scheduled, all drawing byes into the second round.

Top-seeded was defending champion Rod Laver, favored to successfully defend his 1964 title. Seeded second was Aussie Ken Rosewall (of Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael), the 1963 champion, and third was Pancho Gonzales, who ruled professional tennis for eight years. The youngest pro in the tourney, Butch Buchholz of St. Louis, was seeded fourth.

Gonzales, who has talked about retiring after this campaign, lost to Laver in last year's rain-soaked final.

Jim Brown's Accuser Gets Mystery Calls

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Completion of a jury was expected today in the trial of professional football player Jim Brown on an assault and battery charge brought by an 18-year-old girl.

Jury selection was delayed more than two hours yesterday while the judge conferred with attorneys about mysterious telephone calls the prosecuting witness said she received. The tentative jury now includes six women and five men.

The prosecutor, one of two handling the case in Municipal Court, said the guard was placed because of alleged telephone threats the girl said she received at her East Side home Monday night. The girl lives with her mother, a domestic worker.

Miss Ayres has accused Brown of slapping her in a Cleveland motel room June 20. Judge Blanche Krupansky was told during a conference one of the three calls the slender, bespectacled teen-ager allegedly received was from Brown.

One of Brown's attorneys, Norman Minor, said his client knew nothing about a telephone call.

Brown, 29-year-old star fullback for the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, has pleaded innocent to the charge and asked for the jury trial, which began Monday. He was due to report today to his team's training camp in Hiram, Ohio.

Among the courtroom spectators yesterday were Brown's wife, Sue, a mother of three, and his mother, Mrs. Theresa Brown. Brown and his accuser are Negroes.

Conviction would mean a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $200 fine.

CONNOLLY

Now that the All-Star game is history, the San Francisco Giants and other pennant contending outfits can gather their flock together and get ready for the balance of the 1965 schedule.

Take the Giants, for instance, who have 13 straight games in as many days, starting Friday night. Included in that batch of battles are 3 with Houston, 2 with Chicago, 2 with Cincinnati, 3 with Milwaukee and 3 with St. Louis before they get another day off.

You'd think in the face of this sort of schedule and with the lame, maimed and crippled haunting every nook and corner of the S.F. clubhouse, management might forget an exhibition game tomorrow evening with Tacoma, the Giant farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

BUT AS THINGS turn out, this exhibition at Tacoma is a yearly MUST, not for the money that is in it but to keep Tacoma QUIET. All year long the Giants pick and peck and disrupt Tacoma's playing personnel until at times the club never knows who will be playing with it the following night.

So if you're inclined to kick about the Giants over-working themselves, remember owner Horace Stoneham is trying to say thanks for the inconvenience he's caused the Tacoma fans and management. And besides it gives some of the Giant bench warmers a chance to feel like they belong.

DAY BY DAY in every way, professional baseball is becoming rougher and rougher. It used to be rare when pitchers continuously "dusted off" batters; seldom, if ever, were catchers hurt by trying to block home plate; and with only one exception, can I recall, were ball players punching each other a la Richie Allen - Frank Thomas. The exception was years ago, when Eddie Mulligan, ex-S.F. Seal and now California League president, flattened the late Bill Kenworthy, ex-Oak, with a solid slug on the chin.

But for some unknown reason, current major league ball is inciting a lot of hate and fury. In almost every crucial series tempers flare and fans are on edge for a blow-up.

THE LAST PERSON in the world you'd ever accuse of unfair tactics, on or off the ball field, is Willie Mays, Giant super-star. Even the umpires say Willie is a "regular guy always."

Yet in the Philly game last weekend, in a close play, Willie slid home so hard he knocked the be-jabbers out of Phil catcher Pat Corrales. If you realize the type of equipment used by catchers, a base runner has to really have a lot of moxie to challenge shin guards, etc., so when Willie said he slid real hard he wasn't fibbing. He knows the guy slugging is better off than the guy receiving.

Mays, an intense competitor, gave his charge for home plate all he had, never intending to injure Corrales, but rather to protect himself and score the run. He did both and it is good luck Corrales isn't seriously hurt.

TY COBB IN his prime and on his way to becoming baseball's greatest record maker, had many a safari with his base stealing escapades. Ty "cut up" many an unsuspecting second sacker in his mad fury to get there in safety.

Maury Wills of the Los Angeles Dodgers gave the "cure" to base runners trying to break up double plays by coming in "standing up," by whacking them on the head with his throw. A few of those and everybody remembers to get down when Wills is on the other end of a double play. I saw Orlando Cepeda get carried off the field on a stretcher when Wills tapped him.

There will always be new gimmicks for protecting ball players but it is a bad omen when a bat is used in self defense.

Raiders Open '65 Football Camp

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Coach Al Davis greeted what he terms the best rookie crop in the six-year history of the Oakland Raiders when the American Football League clubs opened camp today.

Also invited to the early training was a selected group of veteran pros to swell the list to 42 players. Then another group of 22 veterans will check in on Sunday.

A trio of rookie stars—offensive guard Harry Schuh of Memphis State, offensive end Fred Biletnikoff of Florida State and defensive back Larry Todd of Arizona State report after the All-Star game scheduled Aug. 6.

Despite the high esteem in which he holds the rookies, Davis says veterans must form the hard core of a club seeking to improve on its 5-7-2 record of last season.

"You must remember," the coach declares, "It is a big step from college football to pro football and rookies need time to develop no matter how great they were in college.

"We intend to work our rookies into the club as they develop and gain experience."

In addition to the three chosen for the All-Star collegiate squad, the top rookies appear to be defensive back Kent McCloughan of Nebraska, fullback and linebacker Gus Otto of Missouri, defensive linemen Rich Zecher of Utah State, Mickey Cox of Louisiana State and Bill Minor of Illinois, and offensive linemen Bob Svihus of Southern California and linebacker Dick Hermann of Florida State.

Seven other new Raiders are veterans Roger Hagberg, who was out of pro football last year, defensive back Dave Grayson obtained from Kansas City in trade for Fred Williamson, linebacker Gorden Kelley who once played with San Francisco, defensive tackle Pat Russ, defensive end Isaac Lassiter, quarterback Dick Wood and flanker Dobie Craig.

Wood came in a trade from the New York Jets and Craig is a former Raider who played last year with Houston.

The Raiders will keep their camp at Santa Rosa through Sept. 10, two lays before opening their league games against the Kansas City Chiefs on Oakland's Frank Youell Field.

18th Win For N.L. All-Stars

Press box statisticians were thumbing through the books for the record lop-sided score which turned out to be the Americans' 12-0 victory in 1946.

In the meantime, the Americans, led by Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, could do little with Juan Marichal, the National League starter. The 26-year-old San Francisco right-hander faced only nine men in his three innings. He gave up a single to Vic Davalillo of Cleveland, but the center fielder was erased on a double play.

It was not until the fourth inning, with Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds on the mound, that the Americans finally came to life.

They scored their first run on a walk and singles by Dick McAuliffe of Detroit and Rocky Colavito of Cleveland. Then came the big fifth when the Americans tied the score with four runs.

McAuliffe accounted for the first two with a 400-foot homer over the center field fence. It scored Minnesota's Jimmie Hall, who had walked.

Brooks Robinson of Baltimore followed McAuliffe's homer with a single and trotted home ahead of Killebrew's 410-foot drive into the pavilion in left center. Mays didn't even bother to turn around to see where that ball was going.

The National used six pitchers to five for the losers. Sandy Koufax, who pitched the sixth inning, was credited with the victory. The Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw, far from sharp after pitching a complete game Sunday, walked two but worked himself out of trouble.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers and Dick Farrell of the Houston Astros also saw action for the Nationals. After Pappas the Americans used Jim Grant of Minnesota, Pete Richert of Washington, McDowell and Ed Fisher of Chicago. McDowell was charged with the defeat.

Lopez, the White Sox manater, has now been on eight All-Star teams, all losing ones. He played on two, coached one and managed five. Mauch has been on three teams, all winning ones. He was a coach on the first two.

Tennis Upset In Belvedere

Marin Tourney Of Stars Sponsor Roster Grows

The second annual Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars is meeting wholehearted community reception in solicitation of sponsors, according to Herb G. Christ of William McDevitt's tournament committee.

"Last year, we had slightly over 30 sponsors," said Christ, who is responsible for formation of the program's sponsor pages which form a major source of income for the charity invitational.

"Right now—we have over 300 sponsors who have contributed amounts ranging from minimum of $25 to $100," said Christ.

The program pages for the Sept. 19 celebrity golf invitational close in late August so sponsors are still being enrolled.

Proceeds from the event — which is shaping up to be one of the biggest celebrity golf invitationals in the nation—will benefit the Marin Youth Fund.

Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, James Garner, Robert Sterling, Jim Backus, Dean Martin and Kirk Douglas will be among 40 film and television celebrities competing with 30 top North State amateurs and 60 prominent Bay Area golfers in the invitational at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club.

Marin Bowler 9th

Dick Treadway of Larkspur remains in ninth place in the qualifying play of the fifth annual Cal-State Masters bowling championships being held at Castle Lanes in San Francisco.

ROLLER SKATING

Terra Linda Girl Wins Third Straight Title

Nina Howe, 17, pretty blonde Terra Linda lass, winner of her third straight California and Southwest Pacific Regional roller skating title, is looking toward the nationals later this month.

Nina, teamed with Tim Laskey of Hayward, won the senior division dance title Saturday at Bakersfield. With the win came a great big record for her. She is the first person to ever win three different division titles in three straight years at the regionals.

With another partner in 1963 she won the junior title, last year won the intermediate title with Laskey, and then came the senior titie this year. Nina and Tim are the youngest pair to ever win the senior dance title at the Southwest regionals.

Next for the pair is the national tournament at Lincoln, Neb., scheduled July 26 through 30 in the Lincoln Convention Center.

Nina's younger sister, Marilyn, 13, advanced as fas as the semi-finals in the junior division of this year's regionals and it was her first competitive meet. The girls, both of whom have been skating since they were five, are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Howe of 12 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

Youth Baseball Tourney Entries Are Still Open

Team entries in the Youth Baseball Tournament in San Anselmo will be taken by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department until next Monday, and more teams are needed.

The tourney, to be held the last week of July and possibly the first week of August, has three divisions: Little League minor division, Little League majors, and junior or pony division. Age for the Little League divisions is 8 through 12, and for the junior division is 13, 14 and 15.

So far five teams have entered each of the Little League divisions, but only three have entered the Pony League division, according to tournament director Frank L. Quinn.

The tournament is co-sponsored by the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department and the San Anselmo Little League Assn. All games will be played at the city's Memorial Park.

A VARIETY OF OPPORTUNITIES

Adult Recreation Program At College A Big Success

By RALPH CHATOIAN

More than 200 men and women are taking part in College of Marin's first adult recreation program that is turning out to be quite a success.

The program is for persons 18 and older. "We feel high schools are already doing an adequate job in caring for youngsters," explained Harry J. Pieper, director of athletics at the college. "We're trying to give adults recreational opportunities."

The new physical education complex on the Kentfield campus is offering a wide variety of recreational activities. It is going over so well that Pieper is already starting plans for a similar evening program during the fall school semester.

"Our summer program is now closed," said Pieper, "but we'll be announcing the start of another program pretty soon."

Cost for the six-week session is $5, with individual classes meeting three hours per week. It started June 21 and will run through July 30.

"The activities we attempted this first time around were those that we felt were of interest to adults," said Pieper. "We have men and women from 18 to 65 enrolled.

There are about 20 in the swimming class, including persons who can't swim at all and others who want to perfect their swimming technique. The swimming pools at the college are also open during the day for open swimming, Mondays through Saturdays from 1 to 6 p.m. The pools are also open from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays. Cost for the open swimming is 50 cents for adults and 25 for persons under 18.

The only classes taught during the day are tennis and golf. There are 30 men and women in the golf class and 32 in the tennis class. "There are a lot of housewives in these two groups," said Pieper.

The gymnastics class has drawn a total of 45, mostly the younger students. There are judo classes for men and women, the women's class topping the men in number of entrants, 25 to 20.

"This judo has really gone over well," said Pieper. "We started getting so many registrants we thought for a while we were going to have to turn some of them away. Luckily we didn't have to."

The women's personal fitness class drew 30 women trying to either lose weight or shift it around to different places. There was a similar type class planned for men but not enough turned out so the plans were abandoned.

"We'll try men's personal fitness again this fall," Pieper said. "We may get a better turnout then."

New Orleans Finds A Financial Angel

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "It takes money to make money" is the way David H. McConnell, who says he's willing to put up the millions for a National Football League franchise for New Orleans, explains his wealth.

The trimly built New Yorker, an investment banker, was introduced to New Orleans Monday, meeting first the sports writers and then business and civic leaders.

Dave Dixon, the lawyer who has been promoting for a pro football team for more than three years, says McConnell was selected from a group of six men who each said they'd finance a franchise.

But McConnell, who says he wants badly to own a pro team, had his eye on New Orleans even before meeting Dixon.

The NFL recently awarded a franchise for its 15th team to Atlanta for an estimated $9 million. The league says it will add another team for the 1967 season.

The 39-year-old McConnell, father of five girls, told newsmen that in his opinion New Orleans "economically is every bit the equal of Atlanta—if not its superior. But Atlanta has a public relations firm working for it in New York and perhaps that's why we hear more about it."

McConnell, a decorated Marine Corps combat veteran of both World War II and the Korean War, pledged that he would never shift an NFL franchise to another city if he obtains one.

McConnell admits "there are bridges we have not tried to cross" concerning the intricacies of operating a football club and its financing, but he said "there's enough money tucked away to take care of all things."

The sportsman, who presently maintains homes in New York, Long Island and Switzerland, has a fortune estimated at nearly $100 million. He parlayed his inheritance into oil properties, real estate and a small airline in Florida.

SOME WORDS OF ADVICE FOR A PACK TRIP TO MOUNTAINS

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Apparently I started something when, in a recent column, I wrote of a pack trip to some lake or stream in the mountains. Several letters and telephone calls asking for more details came in this week.

One caller asked: "If you had your choice, which method would you use to get to your objective?"

The gist of my reply was this — "If I had my choice I would rather walk than go aboard a horse. In my estimation the most interesting pack trips possible are those where you are alone (or with a trusty comrade) packing all the essentials needed for shelter, walking clothes and just enough food to satisfy your hunger. That way you are the most independent person on earth.

REGARDLESS OF the weather you can meet it. You have no stock to feed and tether. You are in a position to enjoy the wonders and beauty of nature in the raw, as it were. You can spend a day or more in any spot that appeals to you. You can roll up your pack, get into your "harness" and wander at will. There is nothing to keep you in one spot, and you will see sights that you would miss when on horseback.

You will never become lost if you have a compass and a map, and if a sudden mountain storm breaks, you can pitch your light-weight tent, fasten the flap and laugh at the wind or rain or snow. You are like certain clams or crabs I know—you carry your home right with you.

IF YOU have time to spare, you shouldn't worry about where you happen to be. Somewhere you will find a trail that will bring you back to your starting point, so you just enjoy every minute of every hour you are traveling or camping. You can stop and fish for your supper in any one of a hundred small lakes or rushing streams. You can thrill to the sight of a tiny waterfall seen in the distance, quench your thirst in a clear cool stream, or pitch your tent in a shady glen not visited by the horseback campers. Yea, verily, the best, the most rewarding mode of travel in the high country is on foot.

PERHAPS A few tips on what to carry, what clothes to wear and such will help.

First off, the experienced foot traveler doesn't merely roll up a couple of blankets along with his toilet accessories, draw the straps tight, throw it over his shoulder and start hiking. Always he is aware that a three-pound pack at the start of a day's hike weighs 30 pounds by nightfall, and the easy slope of a hill or mountain easily traversed when fresh and fully rested becomes an almost vertical climb by late afternoon.

THE EXPERIENCED traveler is equipped with a pack "harness," preferably one with a head strap, and of the right width to take the strain over his shoulders as close to the neck as is comfortable. A pack usually weighs in the neighborhood of 40-50 pounds exclusive of rations.

GETTING INTO specifics, we may assume that the following list of essentials is about correct for a lone traveler:

1—Featherweight tent (ground sheet and pegs for same); 2—Good down or kapok sleeping bag, ground sheet, ground blanket, down quilt, and cooking kit; (Perhaps an air mattress will add to sleeping comfort; 3—Compact comb, brush and mirror. 4—Compact cooking outfit, and stove; 5—Aluminum knife, fork and spoon, cup, and plate; 6—Canvas bucket and wash basin, pole clips and candle holder.

In addition to the above you will want a supply of matches contained in a watertight bottle or can, soap, toothbrush, snake bite kit, compass, and fishing gear along with a collapsible fly rod.

There are likely other essentials that you will think of and will include, but just add them to the list, but make them as light and compact as possible.

Okay, so far you have about 22 pounds to carry, which is easy, but you need proper clothing. One change of woolen underwear, a woolen shirt, two pair of woolen socks, a pair of slippers or moccasins.

You should also have a hunting or sheath knife, a poncho, an old felt hat, and a flashlight. A bottle of insect repellant, and a roll of toilet paper.

I would include a can of Sterno to be sure of lighting your fires.

I MAKE no list of the food items, but, instead suggest you drop a card or note to Joseph D. Bates Jr., P.O. Box 2294, Grand Central Station, New York City, 17, N.Y. Ask for a copy of "Outdoor Cooking—The Easy Way." The booklets are free for the asking. Only remember to not overload. You can get powdered milk, butter in a tin, bacon sliced and wrapped in wax paper, egg powder, bag of sugar or small bottle of liquid sweetener. Prunes, apricots in a bag, a bag of tea or a small can of instant coffee, etc.

As stated, the full pack should not weigh more than 45 to 50 pounds and that heavy a load is easy to carry when properly arranged.

REGARDING THE fishing tackle, other than the rod and reel, you should have no trouble with that. Of course it will be nice if you find room for a compact camera, so you can regale the stay-at-home with some wonderful pictures.

Don't forget that on a walking pack trip your feet need nightly close attention. Cut toenails short and square. If your feet get wet, sit down and change socks. If you try drying them while you walk (the socks, I mean) they will make your feet tender and liable to blisters.

WHEN WALKING through woods or over rough terrain copy the Indian or the woodsman. Walk with a rolling motion, with your hips swaying an inch or so to the stepping side. Try to walk almost flat-footed, the toes pointed straight forward.

A GOOD idea for the care of feet is to brush them with talcum powder in the morning before starting your hike — good idea, too, to dust your underwear with the powder. You can harden your feet a bit by soaking them the night before a hike in a solution of alcohol and salt.

When walking up a steep slope, walk sideways. And above all, don't try to show how tough you are by keeping on hiking when you are tired. Halt, whenever you are forced to talk in a gasp, but never halt for very long at one time. Old time mountain men claim halts should not be more than three or five minutes.

AFTER A day or two days of steady hiking you will likely be so tired and stiff in all your joints that you would welcome a lift by a helicopter back to where you have parked your car, but don't worry, inside of an hour you will limber up and be able to enjoy the adventure.

Streusel Topping Enhances Muffins

We hope that even the most ardent advocate of prepared foods will succumb to baking muffins now that blueberries are in season.

The effort is likely to be magnificently rewarded with a big dose of appreciation from family and friends. For of all muffins, the blueberry variety is probably the top favorite in American homes.

AND THE following recipe for blueberry muffins may bet double applause. That's because another favorite — streusel — is used as a topping. Streusel is a crumbly mixture of fat, sugar and flour that was originally used on kuchen and it helps to make that sweet bread so popular. Most bakeries specialize in one variety or another of sweet bread featuring streusel just because the crumbly topping is so appealing.

In making muffins, it's important to mix the batter only until the dry ingredients are moistened, this way the gluten in the flour is not developed so much that it produces toughness and tunnels.

And another reminder, if there is not enough muffin batter to fill all the cups in your muffin pans, be sure to fill the empty wells half full of cold water. Then you won't have empty but grease - spattered, scorched muffin cups to clean.

Wash the blueberries that are to go into the muffins by turning them into a strainer and letting cold water run through them. Drain thoroughly, then pat the berries dry on paper toweling.

BLUEBERRY STREUSEL MUFFINS

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup commercial sour cream
- ⅓ cup milk
- ¼ cup salad (not olive) oil
- 1½ cups fresh large blueberries, rinsed and drained

Into a mixing bowl, sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and sugar. Beat egg until thick and ivory color; add sour cream and milk; beat to combine; stir in oil; add all at once to sifted flour mixture. Stir only until blended. Fold in blueberries. Turn into buttered muffin pans (⅓-cup size wells) filling ¾ full. Sprinkle Streusel over batter. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until topping is deep brown. Loosen sides with a small spatula; serve at once. Makes 18 muffins.

STREUSEL

- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- ¼ cup regular unsifted flour
- 1teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine

In a small mixing bowl, stir together the brown sugar, flour and cinnamon. With a pastry blender, cut in the butter until particles are fine and mixture is crumbly. Use as directed in Blueberry Streusel Muffin recipe.

Cobbler With Blueberries— A Delicious Summer Dessert

BLUEBERRY COBBLER

- 1 quart large fresh blueberries, washed and drained
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons instant flour Biscuit Topping

In a 1½-quart round glass casserole (inside 7½ by 2½ inches) toss together the blueberries, lemon juice, sugar and flour. Using a prepared pastry cloth and stockinet - covered rolling pin, roll out biscuit topping to fit inside dimension of casserole. Place topping over blueberries — it should cover them. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 40 minutes. If topping browns too fast, cover it with foil. Serve warm or reheat. Top with whipped cream—only lightly sweetened because cobbler is quite sweet. Makes 6

BISCUIT TOPPING: In a mixing bowl, stir together 1 cup unsifted regular flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder. ½ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in 6 tablespoons butter until particles are fine. With a fork, stir in enough milk (4 to 5 tablespoons) to make a very soft dough; roll out and use as directed above — extra flour on prepared pastry cloth will probably be needed.

Youngsters Like Oatmeal Cookies

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¾ sup shortening
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ½ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk
- 1½ cups regular rolled oats
- ½ cup chopped raisins
- ½ cup chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Cream the shortening, granulated sugar, dark brown sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in the egg. Stir in the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Stir in the rolled oats, raisins and walnuts. Drop by rounded or heaping teaspoonfuls, a few inches apart, onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until browned—10 to 12 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool. Makes 4 to 6 dozen. Store in a tightly covered container.

Marinated Mushrooms Used In French Chicken Recipe

Chicken is a perennial American favorite. A quick way to enhance any such dish, however, can be learned from the French, who have popularized chicken with mushrooms. In fact, the French have utilized mushrooms in all of their cuisine for hundreds of years. A new product from California—marinated mushrooms — now makes it easy and inexpensive to add a delightful and delicious French touch to chicken.

CHICKEN MUSHROOM SKILLET
(Makes 4 servings)

- 2 large chicken breasts, halved
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 1 jar (6 ounces) marinated mushrooms
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1½ cups water
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon flour

In a large skillet, brown chicken in oil; then drain off oil. Drain mushroom marinade into bowl. Blend in tomato paste, onion, salt, pepper, 1¼ cups water and Worcestershire sauce. Mix with chicken, in skillet. Cover and simmer 25 minutes or until tender. Place chicken on serving plate; keep warm. Blend flour and ¼ cup water; stir into skillet; add mushrooms. Cool, stirring constantly, until sauce boils, 1 minute. Pour over chicken. Serve with French bread, hot cooked rice or noodles, as desired.

SHRIMP AND MUSHROOM HORS D'OEUVRES
Makes about 2½ dozen

- 1 jar (6 ounces) Marinated Mushrooms, undrained
- ½ pound cooked shrimp
- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients in shallow bowl. Chill several hours, stirring occasionally. skewer mushroom and shrimp on cocktail picks.

For Entertaining— Pineapple Creme

The joy of cooking with convenience foods is that an elegant gourmet meal can be served with less time and effort than ever before . . . and seldom a worry for "failure." We came upon a dessert recently that takes advantage of these very qualities . . . Pineapple Angel Creme. This rich tasting, very special dessert is a combination of canned crushed Hawaiian pineapple, angel food cake cubes (from the grocer's shelves) and deluxe dessert mix.

PINEAPPLE ANGEL CREME is especially ideal for entertaining — either a bridge luncheon or an evening dinner party. It must be chilled at least 2 hours in order to "set." So you can prepare it in the early morning (or night before), ready to unmold at your convenience. Unmold on a serving plate and return to the refrigerator until ready to serve. At the last minute, you might garnish with a fresh flower for a summery look. This recipe serves 10-12. NOTE: If you don't have a 2-quart ring mold, simply use another shape with a 2-quart volume.

PINEAPPLE ANGEL CREME

- 1½ cups drained crushed pineapple (No. 2 or 1 lb., 4½ oz. can)
- ½ cup pineapple syrup
- 1 package (3¾ oz.) deluxe dessert mix (vanilla, lemon or strawberry)
- ½ cup cold milk
- ½ cup heavy cream
- 4 cups angel food or sponge cake cubes

Drain pineapple and reserve ½ cup syrup. Prepare the deluxe dessert mix with milk as directed on package. Use pineapple syrup in place of water in preparing mix.

Whip the cream and fold it into the dessert along with the pineapple and cake cubes. Spoon into a 2-quart ring mold and chill at least 2 hours. Dip in warm water to unmold. Makes 10-12 servings.

Actor's Wife Plans Dinner Like Script

Actor Dean Jones says a dining table can be a romantic place.

Jones advises young girls looking for a formula for a happy marriage to concentrate on the table, meals together and with the family to keep husbands from roaming.

"I look forward to dinner at our house. My wife plans a dinner like she was writing a movie script. I've said to her, 'How in the world can you plan meals day after day and still be enthusiastic about it?' "

She loves it, he says. And the tall tapered candles on the table never seem to burn down.

"Once in a while I'll say to her, how much are these candles costing anyway? But I don't really mean it. I don't care what it costs for the atmosphere," he says.

He can't imagine any man straying from a home where there is a cozy family atmosphere beginning at the table, he says. But too few women care about putting themselves out with these little things that count, he says.

"And you should see the way my wife runs the house, her patience with our two little girls, and how enthusiastic she is when I invite guests," he brags. "We can afford a cook but she'd rather do it herself. She always remembers how many lumps of sugar every guest takes. Her memory for little details about their food habits always makes company feel comfortable and cozy."

He met his wife, the former Mae Entwhistle, when she was elected a queen for the Pasadena Rose Parade.

Their household includes eight mongrel dogs, a toy sheep dog, goldfish, lizards, and spiders in containers. While making the movie "That Darn Cat" he fell in love with the cat heroine. Now, he plans to add a cat to his menagerie.

Dressing Adds To Flavor Of Salad

Here's a potato salad for all seasons, but it is especially delightful in summer when a platter of sliced cold meat is likely to be served with it at many a meal.

To complement the meat, this potato salad is concocted with old-fashioned dressing—the kind that used to be called "boiled." To make sure that the dressing is not over-cooked, nowadays we are likely to call it "cooked" or "old-fashioned."

SOME YEARS ago we discovered that an old-time dressing of this sort benefited from the use of undiluted evaporated milk, and that is what is included in this recipe. When we tested the rule, we found there was a generous amount of dressing—all to the good with the plain meat.

SOMETIME YOU may want to make up the dressing part of this recipe and refrigerate it to have on hand for other summer salads. It is good with those salads made with hard-cooked eggs and green cabbage. It is also good in sandwich fillings —ground ham or smoked tongue, chopped chicken or turkey.

POTATO SALAD WITH OLD-FASHIONED DRESSING

- 6 medium potatoes (cooked, peeled and coarsely diced to make 1 quart)
- 3 scallions (green onions), thinly sliced
- 2 eggs, hard-cooked and sliced
- 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
- 1 teaspoon flour
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash of white pepper
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon salad oil
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup cider vinegar
- ½ cup undiluted evaporated milk
- Lettuce and parsley

In a large mixing bowl lightly mix together the potatoes, scallions, eggs and pimiento; chill while making dressing. In a small saucepan stir together the salt, flour, sugar, pepper and mustard; stir in oil, egg and 2 tablespoons of the vinegar. Over low heat, cook and stir until thickened. Remove from heat. Stir in evaporated milk and the remaining 2 tablespoons vinegar; beat until thickened. Cool slightly, then pour over potato mixture; fold in carefully. Chill before serving. Line a serving bowl with lettuce; spoon salad into it; garnish with parsley. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Smothered Chicken

To prepare smothered chicken, brown a cut-up large broiler-fryer in butter or margarine; add a half cup of tomato juice, a bay leaf and some peppercorns. Cook, covered, until tender. Roll the chicken in seasoned flour before browning.

They moved to Chicago for 30 years and returned to Marin in 1941 when they built their home in Inverness. Among the guests attending will be Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Crane Jr., Alan and Isabel Johnstone and Mrs. William H. Hall.

THE ROBERT MILLERS of San Rafael and their sons Robert and James are vacationing in Hawaii and will be on hand to greet many of their friends as they finish the Trans Pacific yacht race. Robert Jr. will join the group aboard Ken DeMeuse's 83-foot schooner "Serena" for the return trip to San Francisco.

When the Millers return to San Rafael the first of August they will board their sloop to cruise the Sacramento delta for the remainder of the summer.

ARRIVING LAST NIGHT by plane from Europe was Elissa Eberhart, who has been in Europe for two years as a teacher with the U.S. Army school in Hanau, Germany, near Frankfort. A Dominican High School and Seattle University graduate, Elissa grew up in Mill Valley and will be visiting with her Marin friends while she spends four weeks here staying with her mother, Mrs. Alberta Eberhart, in San Anselmo. The entire family including her father, William Eberhart of Mill Valley, and her brothers and sisters will be on hand at the airport to meet her.

Elissa taught for two years at the State School for the Deaf in Riverside before she went to Europe, where she received a superior teaching award from the superintendent of overseas schools, U. S. Army, and she has traveled throughout Europe, to Russia and through Africa while abroad, and she is coming home via Ireland. After a four-week stay in Marin she will teach at an Air Force school in Japan.

THE PHOENIX SOCIETY, composed of fire buffs, sporting special badges which permit them access to blazes in San Francisco, will meet for dinner at the San Francisco Yacht Club tonight. Belvedere's fire chief, Lawrence T. "Bunk" Mersereau, is arranging the affair. Mayor Merritt Ruddock of Belvedere will be an honored guest at the dinner for 50.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT ROACH of Mill Valley announce the birth of their first child, a daughter born yesterday at Marin General Hospital. The baby has been named Erin Marie. Maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. John K. Young of Mill Valley and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. Mildred Schweitzer of Redwood City.

A CHAMPAGNE garden party will be given on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph F. Scott at their home in San Rafael's Country Club tract in honor of their future daughter-in-law, Carol Fay Howard of Concord. About 70 Marin and Bay Area friends have been invited to meet Carol, who will become the bride of Irwin R. Scott at the end of the month.

TAKING POSSESSION of a beautiful 53-foot yacht are the David Allens of Belvedere. Dave and Betty and their family, accompanied by Dave's brother, Howard, his wife Ann and their sons, went to San Diego to get the boat. They sailed it as far as Newport over the weekend and will go south later in the summer to bring the big sailboat back to Belvedere Cove.

Golden Strand

Two strands of large, rare golden cultured pearls, worn with a single strand of golden topazes, add an exciting dimension in jewelry accessories, with each striking lights from the other. A torsade of small blue pearls twisted with creamy Biwa fresh water pearls is made to be worn in place of the classic choker for special occasions or a new effect with a suit.

Short Hems, No Straps Are Indicated In Fall Costumes

NEW YORK (AP) — Although shoulder straps are missing and hemlines are high on costumes in the new fall collections, the designers expect and are prepared to meet resistance.

"WE PLAN TO ship these dresses with extra shoulder straps, just in case," Karen Stark, designer for the Harvey Berin house, told fashion writers yesterday at the New York Couture Group press previews.

As she spoke, several pretty maidens appeared revealing crepe dinner gowns that clung to one shoulder strap, presumably for security.

"THE SHORT SKIRT length is right," said Vincent Monte-Sano, referring to the inch-above-the-knee hems in the coat and suit line created for his fashion house by designer Jacques Tiffeau. "The focus changes as the real fashion interest moves into the jacket itself, particularly the neckline."

Yet Monte-Sano as well as Rudi Gernreich, Ann Fogarty and others who figure prominently in the short, short-skirt story, will lower hems if buyers insist.

Pleats, A-line cuts or a little gathering at the waist on most of the short skirts in the collection provided plenty of stride room. A few suits with skirts as skinny as they were brief offer the wearer an interesting challenge in sitting down with grace and modesty.

Helen Wills Still Playing Her Game

CARMEL (AP) — The tennis world knew Helen Wills as "Little Miss Poker Face," eight times Wimbledon singles champion and a player with intense competitive drive.

That was a generation ago and, today, as Mrs. Aiden Roark, wife of the famed nine-goal international polo player and sportsman, she still plays tennis several times a week for sheer love of the game.

It has been 20 years since she has played competitive tennis, and you have to go far back to a fantastic 10-year era starting in the mid-1920s to recall Helen's great record, but her concept of what it takes to win big time tournaments is as firm now as then.

"I THINK ONE of the secrets of success in tournament play is to concentrate," she said. "If the mind begins to wander or you get upset, you cannot win.

"I found that a lot of conversation before a match just ruined you. So before a match I always was quiet, stayed in my room and avoided rushing around."

She regards the way she got her nickname as an amusing oddity. There was a poet named Arthur Guiterman who wrote some light verse about Helen, calling her "Little Miss Poker Face," and she said "That was how it started . . . the name stuck."

The finest thing about tennis, she believes, is that it is a game "open to everyone" which can be played indefinitely.

"THE THING ABOUT it is you must be a natural born player, practice and learn to concentrate to earn your right to play in places like Forest Hills and Wimbledon," Helen emphasized.

Growing up in Berkeley, the daughter of Dr. C. A. Wills, Helen started learning the game at the Berkeley Tennis Club. Playing in junior tournaments, she fast gained such class that she was invited to Forest Hills to play in the National Junior Championships at 15.

WHEN SHE WAS ONLY 16, she was runner-up in the National Women's Singles at Forest Hills and, at 17, won the singles championship there in competition against America's finest women players.

In 1924 she won the only title she holds to this day—the Olympic Games singles—that being the only time in Olympics history tennis was included. The unique tournament was held at Colombes, outside Paris.

"I guess people would be surprised to know that tennis ever was played as an Olympic sport, because it never has been since then," she said.

The year after she won her first Forest Hills title, she was invited to play in England, starting her amazing string of Wimbledon victories which ranked her as one of the finest women champions the game has ever produced.

NAMES, DATES AND INDIVIDUAL matches have faded into time now, although she remembers some of the greats like England's Kathleen McKanes and Lili de Alvarez of Spain.

"The finest player I ever met was France's Suzanne Lenglen, who beat me once in South France," she recalled. "I was 18 then and just arriving at the peak of my game."

Now, Helen has found a variety of interests to supplement her leisurely tennis, playing about every other day at the Beach Club in nearby Pebble Beach, where pro Don Leary will tell you, "She was the world's greatest."

WHILE ROARK, who has substituted the raising and training of championship English Springers for polo, and acts as a racing official at Golden Gate Fields, Monmouth Park and other tracks, Helen has become active in Republican Party affairs, oil painting and caring for their relatively new home in the Carmel Valley, just outside this quaint coastal town.

"I'm just getting used to living in our new place," she said. She does some gardening but "not very strenuous, though."

THE ROARKS MOVED here 1½ years ago after living 20 years in the Pacific Palisades section of Los Angeles and, during the war years, at Ft. Riley, Kan., where he was an instructor at the now defunct Cavalry School.

"From the time I was 15 until I was 25, I played tennis very intensively," Helen said.

Part of that time she was attending the University of California in the class of 1927.

"There is no excuse for people giving up school to play tennis. It is a mistake," she added.

NEW HAIR PIECE NEEDS NO COMBING

The newest in hair pieces requires no back combing or teasing to provide bulk to the head. The hair piece, called the "Hi Top," is the design of Signor Alfredo, hair stylist and wigmaker, who owns the Via Veneto salon in New York.

All height is built into the crown of the mesh base which is either oval or cone shaped, depending on the contour of the individual head. Place the "Hi Top" at the back of the crown and it falls into a bouncy shoulder-length "do."

Best Car Safety Devices Cannot Replace Caution

In these days of high powered cars and crowded highways, it is still the human error that causes traffic accidents.

It may be well to depend on the state highway division to erect median barriers, build divided highways and set up signs against wrong way driving.

But in the final analysis, it is not these physical improvements that will cut down on accidents and save lives. It will be the individual motorists' determination to exercise caution, to remain alert and to observe rules of safety.

The annual Fourth of July carnage on the highways is over, but this is no time to relax. In fact, the height of the vacation season is still to come.

Only last weekend, we got a grim reminder of what one little miscue on the highways can bring in the way of tragedy to many families.

A mother, on her first visit to the Bay Area, died on a Marin freeway while on a tour to see the Golden Gate Bridge. Several others were seriously injured, some critically.

Safety features are constantly being added to the freeway from the Golden Gate Bridge northward into Sonoma County. Pending the widening of the San Rafael overpass, a median barrier has been erected on the present overpass to prevent head-on crashes like those which have proved fatal in the past.

But all these expensive precautions will come to naught if they serve merely to lull drivers into a sense of false security.

Twenty-seven separate research studies have been or are being conducted by the Highway Transportation Agency on various phases of traffic safety.

Robert B. Bradford, administrator of the Highway Transportation Agency, points out that through these studies, the state hopes to find more and better solutions on how to cut down on the death toll.

The state refuses to accept the increase in highway tragedies as the inevitable price of growth in population and traffic.

Traffic safety officials are doing their best to work for your safety and mine. The least we can do as individual motorists is to consciously be on guard against that little human error that suddenly turns a pleasant weekend excursion into tragedy.

When we head out onto the freeways on a weekend drive or extended vacation, we might well remind ourselves of the causes of highway mishaps—speed, driving in the wrong lane, failure to yield, and following too closely.

"GUARANTEE" BACKFIRES

One buyer failed to read between the lines and lived to regret it.

"I want my money back," he wrote to a company that had pledged a money-back guarantee "if not entirely satisfactory."

"Your money IS entirely satisfactory and therefore we decline to return it," came the reply.

The frustrated customer reported the incident to the Better Business Bureau.

Duplicity is as old as the human race and seldom is a laughing matter.

While there are times when any of us may fall victim to double-dealing, we can provide unwitting encouragement to lawbreakers by being gullible.

Do more than safeguard your own interests, though. Be alert to situations in which others more defenseless than yourself may be victimized.

As a willing instrument of God's love and truth, you are in a position to see that just and equitable procedures are adhered to in many areas.

(Ephesians 4:25)

Strengthen my resolve, O heavenly Father, to be honest myself and to encourage fair dealing by others.

End Of State Economic Agency Saddens No One But Brown

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Figuratively speaking, there is much weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth in Governor Edmund G. Brown's office over the abolition of the state economic agency by the state legislature.

Funds for continuance of the agency were chopped out of the budget, much to the dismay of the administration. At the same time, the legislature cut down funds for the state consumer counsel to the point where that office was rendered more useless than it ever was, if such action were possible.

THE GOVERNOR issued a three-page press release last week, citing letters and telegrams from prominent persons on the government payroll, chamber of commerce officials from smaller communities, and a very few officials of large business organizations, urging retention of the economic agency.

The release would seem to indicate that all of California is bemoaning the fate of the economic agency, but of course, the majority of the taxpayers who foot the bill for the governor's experiment in high level bureaucracy were not heard from.

The governor could—through his emergency funds—continue the activities of the economic agency, but this would hardly be politic after the very definite action of the legislature, which signified the direct representatives of the people want this ineffectual brand of government abandoned.

HAD THE ECONOMIC agency carried out the purpose for which it was created in 1958, there might have been some valid reason for the legislature to consider its continuance, and even expansion. That purpose was to bring new industry to California, and thereby create new jobs for the ever-increasing hordes of people migrating here from other states.

But, in the opinion of the majority of the legislature, the purpose was not carried out, and therefore, the agency had to go.

Fundamentally, the legislative action means much more to the Brown administration than the loss of one bureaucracy. It is, in fact, a renunciation of a portion of the program sponsored by Brown when he entered the office of governor.

HOW MUCH BEARING this will have on the future course of Brown's activities remains to be seen. But at least the activity of the legislature signals the beginning of the breaking up of an administration which has been noted for its ever-increasing budgets.

Elimination of the economic agency this year presages probable elimination of the consumer counsel next year when the legislature meets to consider the budget.

How About Teachers As Deputy Sheriffs?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As Judge of the Juvenile Court, I recently directed an inquiry to Virgil Hollis, County Superintendent of Schools, and to Louis Mountanos, Sheriff, regarding the possible value and propriety of having the Sheriff deputize all or some of the teachers in the county. This would probably not have any great legal value, but might have a substantial psychological and practical value. I have certainly arrived at no clear conclusion on the subject, but feel that it is a matter which is better understood by Boards of Education, teachers, and others, than it is to me. It might strengthen the strong right arm of enforcement in some circles.

Mr. Hollis has responded by saying that he seriously doubts that this will involve an appropriate function for teachers, although he has left the matter somewhat open. Mr. Mountanos advises that he is quite willing to cooperate in these matters if advised that there is some consensus favoring such action.

If you wish to print this letter, it might bring forth some interesting responses which would be useful to the authorities involved.

Humane Society Is Kind, Helpful

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding your News Item, Independent-Journal, of Friday, July 9th, 1965: I shall relate my contacts with the Humane Society.

When located on Union Street in San Rafael, we had a Labrador Retriever which we endeavored to keep in our large yard.

He was constantly escaping. He was a licensed dog. The Humane Society picked him up several times; phoned us to come and get him. There were no additional shots administrated; no additional expense to us; we simply claimed the dog and were treated with consideration and courtesy.

Following this time: On three separate occasions I have had to appeal to the Humane Society for aid, and have met with kind response and consideration.

In two of the instances, with the help of the Humane Society, the animals were restored to their rightful owners, and, in the last, a little golden kitten, the Humane Society sheltered him and planned to find a home for him.

I called to see the little fellow a few days after I was compelled to give him up and found him in wonderful condition. His coat was soft and bright and fluffy and he had grown so much I scarcely recognized him.

There were many animals at the shelter and they were all alert, clean and in good shape; also, they were not afraid.

Regardless of all the help I have received, I have never been asked for money by the Humane Society. Those kind and courteous men have helped me over some tough spots with little animals.

'. . . Right Or Wrong' Was Nazis Motto

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your severe condemnation of Lieut. Steinke in your July 10 editorial may be justified if the lieutenant's action was caused by simple cowardice but should perhaps be tempered if his position was taken because of a gradually increasing belief that what he was doing was wrong.

But aside from the particular merits of this case, I would mainly disagree with the arguments you appear to present which would deny the professional soldier the moral right and duty to search his conscience and act accordingly. I refer to your supporting quotations: "Ours not to reason why; ours but to do or die," and " . . . our country right or wrong."

It seems to me that the foregoing sentiments have been effectively discredited by William L. Shirer's book "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" as being part and parcel of the senseless chauvinism which brought about the Nazi bloodbath and which were used again and again by them during the German war trials to justify their brutality.

In short, could you personally take another's life knowing your country was wrong? Is killing really that easy?

It also appears unfortunate that we don't have another presidential campaign at the moment because then possibly the Republicans could come up with another candidate to play Eisenhower's role when he promised to go to Korea to try and stop "Truman's police action," as some Republican quarters sneeringly called it, realizing the people were tired of war.

Would That Germans Had Refused To Kill

Editor, Independent-Journal:

You condemn Lt. Steinke for disobeying the order to kill and being killed in Viet Nam.

If the German soldier would have refused to obey orders, they could have saved Europe from destruction; they could have saved millions of men, women and children; they could have saved themselves from becoming inhuman, unthinking robots obeying orders "for their country right or wrong."

West Point Grad Proves Cowardly

Headline's Grammar Was Not So Good

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I was simply appalled to find on your front page, attracting the notice of all, a headline reading "Gun At Head But Mostly Treated Good." "Serving ALL of Marin County" could not the Independent-Journal manage to use GOOD not WELL English? Such a flagrant error in such a prominent spot was most upsetting. Someone must maintain high standards and I feel it is the duty of a newspaper which is so widely read to aid in this.

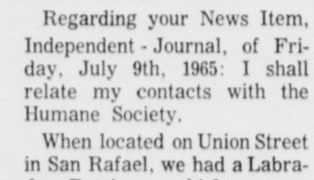
ADDRESSING a group of big newspaper publishers, Alfred Hitchcock, famous director of suspense movies and TV shows, remarked, "It's most appropriate for me to address people like yourselves—men who harbor a class of people who, like me, combine movies and murder in a single calling. I refer, of course, to the critics." Hitchcock also noted that he's completing his tenth year on TV—"a long time to be getting away with murder."



A KINDLY old philanthropist took a pert, blonde, 18-year-old starlet on a trip to Europe just to help her improve her mind. At dinner, as the liner cleared the Long Island shore, he sadly listed for her all his year-long expenses: taxes, rent, charities, dependents, and so on. "And don't forget," the starlet reminded him softly, "all that sheep's clothing."

Lindsay Win Could Aid GOP, Help Solve New York Woes

WASHINGTON — If John Lindsay can take the New York mayoralty from the Democratic machine — and it now seems entirely possible, bordering on the probable—the repercussions will be terrific.

It would mean that the Republicans will have contributed a non-partisan mayor to the most populous city in the nation.

IT WOULD SHOW that the GOP does not have to be a "rural" party when it is willing and able to put attractive and qualified candidates into the field.

It would mark the collapse of one of the most powerful Democratic strongholds where, often with the un-beneficent help of Tammany Hall, Democratic mayors have ruled without serious Republican challenge since the time of another non-partisan mayor, Fiorello H. LaGuardia. (Mrs. LaGuardia is helping run Lindsay's campaign.)

Such a New York victory would add a new face and a new liberal force to the national leadership of the Republican party. As mayor of a city larger than many of our states, Lindsay would be a significant power at the 1968 Republican National Convention and he would himself in time be a potential candidate for Governor—and higher.

These are some of the consequences which can flow from Lindsay's decision to take on the rough mayoralty battle.

BUT THERE IS another consequence which ought not to be overlooked. It would arise from these circumstances:

New York City, regardless of who is mayor, cannot deal effectively with its long-neglected problems of housing, education and crime entirely by itself.

A close and productive relationship between the mayor of New York City and the governor of New York State is imperative.

Lindsay and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller could provide that relationship. It would be invaluable to each. Every mayor of New York for the past two decades has felt that his city has been shortchanged by the state legislature. Albany's services to New York City ought to bear a closer relationship to the revenue New Yorkers contribute to the state. In recent years Rockefeller has begun to recognize this fact.

MORE OFTEN THAN not the Mayor of New York City and the Governor of New York state have been at odds politically, personally and budgetarily.

Lindsay and Rockefeller need each other. A responsive governor would be crucial to the success of a Lindsay administration in New York City. Rockefeller, who has been losing prestige and popularity, would—as he gets ready to run for a third term next year—benefit immeasurably by showing what a cooperative Republican team can do for the eight million people of New York City.

Lindsay's favorable prospects light up at least one spot on the Republican horizon. He would be elected in Democratic New York City not because he is a Republican but because the Republicans would be contributing a non-partisan candidate to the campaign at a time when the Democrats are divided, quarreling and leaderless.

A LINDSAY VICTORY would not do much to help unite the GOP nationally, as they so urgently need to be united, but it would show that a Republican does not have to be poison in a big city election.

Actually, the Republicans today have far greater strength at the grass roots than Barry Goldwater's massive defeat last fall indicated. There are now Republican governors in a majority of the big states: Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan. And the key to their success? They all stand at the center or to the moderate left of center of the Republican party.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Hot Battle Looms On Immigration Plan

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The initial voting on President Johnson's controversial immigration program points to a slam-bang congressional battle over whether a drum-tight ceiling will be placed on the number of immigrants allowed to enter the U. S. each year.

While the House Immigration Subcommittee privately voted 8-1 to support the President's request for repeal of the country-by-country quota system over a three-year period, its members deadlocked on putting a rigid limitation on the program.

A TEST MOTION by Representative Michael Feighan, D-Ohio, chairman, to limit immigration to 300,000, approximately 15,000 more than entered the U. S. in 1964, was defeated by a 4-4 tie vote.

Representative William Cahill, R-N.J., ninth and swing member of the subcommittee didn't vote, although he was present at the closed-door meeting. He later explained, "I haven't made up my mind."

Favoring the ceiling were Representatives Feighan, Frank Chelf, D-Ky., Arch Moore Jr., R-W. Va., and Clark MacGregor, R-Minn. Opposed were Representatives Peter Rodino Jr., D-N.J., Harold Donohue, D - Mass., Jack Brooks, D - Tex., and Jacob Gilbert, D-N. Y.

Both supporters and opponents of the 300,000 limitation regard the tie as only an initial indication of the strength of both sides rather than a showdown vote. Other proposals, ranging from ceilings of 305,000 to 350,000, are to be offered in the subcommittee and on the House and Senate floors.

Republican congressional leaders, taking a leaf from the successful strategy of the British Conservative Party, plan to support a ceiling and make "unlimited immigration" a major domestic issue when the President's program is debated in Congress. The Tories used this tactic in Parliament to force the Labor government to ditch a plan to lift the immigration bars.

THE HOUSE SUBCOMMITTEE'S test vote was triggered last week when State and Justice Department officials, working behind the scenes, scuttled an agreement between the White House and Feighan to place a 235,000 ceiling on all immigrants except those from the Western Hemisphere.

At President Johnson's request, Feighan agreed to this proposal rather than a worldwide ceiling in exchange for White House support of funds for his Joint Congressional Immigration Committee to review the whole program, including the effect of unrestricted immigration from Latin America, Mexico and Canada.

This agreement was blown sky-high when Attorney General Katzenbach and Abba Schwartz, head of the State Department's Bureau of Security & Consular Affairs, teamed up with Representative Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., to get the Senate Appropriations Committee to cut Feighan's Joint Committee funds from $120,000 to $24,000.

SENATE MAJORITY Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., didn't lift a finger to block this axing, although earlier House Democratic leaders had helped Feighan obtain the full amount in that body.

Canadians Being Coached To Avoid Looking American

WASHINGTON — I didn't think things were really too bad between the United States and France until someone sent me a pamphlet from the French Tourist Office which is being distributed in Canada. One of the chapters is titled "How To Be a Canadian in France, or How To Avoid Being Mistaken For an American or an Englishman."

IT STARTS, "Although some 90,000 Canadians visit France every year, the average Frenchman is still unable to distinguish a Canadian at first sight, as he can with several other nationalities. Most Canadians welcome this chance to be anonymous; but many would like to avoid being mistaken for an Amercian or an Englishman, the two most obvious 'faux pas.' Here are our suggestions:

"When a Frenchman asks you, 'Vous etes americain?' be ready to dart back with, 'Non, monsieur. Je suis canadien.' This will probably produce a smile and maybe a reference to some wartime experience when Canadian soldiers fought on French soil.

"To avoid being mistaken for an American do not overpatronize hot dog stands, American bars, and the few American - type drug stores that are to be found in Paris.

DO YOU RELY exclusively on the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune for your news. Don't dress or act like a Texan.

"NO, THANK YOU," the tourist says.

"Ah, you Canadians are so different from your American and English cousins! You are only interested in the finer things. I remember during the war we had a Canadian soldier who stayed with us. He fell in love with my daughter and he gave her chocolate bars and nylons and cigarettes and he was like one of the family. He wasn't like those American GIs who were always out to get something."

"What happened to him?" the tourist asks.

"My daughter became enciente, so he went back to Canada. We never did find out his last name."

"That's nice. By the way, could you give me the name of a Canadian snack bar. I'm dying for a good Canadian hamburger and a Canadian malted milk."

"ALORS, there are none. The Americans have taken over all the snack bars and drug stores. Would you be interested in going to a night club in Pigalle that caters strictly to Canadians? Even the girls wear maple leaves."

"No, thank you, but I'm dying to read a newspaper."

"It is a problem," the Frenchman says. "If anyone sees you reading the New York Herald Tribune there is no telling what they would do. Would you like to see a movie that you may never see in Canada?"

"I don't believe so. I was thinking of going to the Louvre."

"WITH ALL THOSE Americans? Monsieur, we French and Canadians must stick together. Come with me and I'll introduce you to a very lovely girl."

"It makes no difference, monsieur. We are not that narrowminded yet."

Should Native Sons Plaque Be Put On New City Hall?

Arthur Hecht of the Native Sons of the Golden West appeared at a recent meeting of the San Rafael City Council to offer the services of his organization to dedicate the new city hall, when it is built.

MAYOR C. PAUL BETTINI, pleased with the offer, commented that he had seen the Native Sons' dedication ceremony many times at new school buildings. He was about to propose permission to granted when City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson pointed out that there was already on file a letter from Wilkins Post of the American Legion offering to conduct the dedication. The mayor then directed the offer be filed for future decision. Councilmen suggested there might be a joint dedication by both organizations.

When the Native Sons dedicates a building, as Hecht pointed out, it also places a plaque which says the building was dedicated by the Native Sons of the Golden West.

When I came to California just after World War II, I was puzzled at discovering such a plaque in front of a public school building. I wondered whether the Native Sons gave the land, helped finance the building, or what.

ON INQUIRY I learned that it did neither of these things, but conducted the dedication ceremony.

The Native Sons of the Golden West is a fraternal organization, membership in which is limited to those who were born in California and have certain other qualifications. Membership is by invitation.

In Utah, where I grew up, there is a somewhat similar and perhaps more exclusive organization, called the Sons of Utah Pioneers. Its membership is limited to those having at least one ancestor who made the long immigration to Utah before the railroad arrived.

LIKE THE NATIVE SONS in California, the Sons of Utah Pioneers in Utah is a powerful organization—powerful, in fact, beyond the strength which its numbers give it.

Like the Native Sons, its membership includes only a small minority of those eligible.

The Sons of Utah Pioneers erects and dedicates historical monuments, etc. Despite its power and prestige, however, it has never placed its plaque on a public school; nor, as far as I ever learned, on any other structure built with tax money.

I think this is appropriate.

I have nothing against the Native Sons of the Golden West, nor against its conducting the dedication of a school, city hall, or whatever. But why should its plaque be on a building with construction of which it had nothing to do?

IT WOULD BE no less appropriate for some other large organization to put its name on a public, tax-financed building. I imagine there would be some outcry, however, if a school or city hall should bear a plaque identifying it with, for instance, the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, the Free and Accepted Masons, the Uniao Portuguesa en Estado da California, or the Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Why, then, the Native Sons?

The majority of California's adult residents were born outside the state. The great majority of those born in California are not members of the Native Sons. They pay the same taxes, play the same role in government.

Two of the five members of the San Rafael City Council who bought the land for the city hall and contracted for its design were born outside of California.

One of the present councilmen was born outside the state. Of those born in California, none is a member of the Native Sons.

THESE MEN'S NAMES no doubt will appear on a plaque on the building. As is was their action that brought it into being, this seems fitting.

Why should there be another plaque, particularly one with the name of an organization that had nothing to do with the project?

Marin-San Diego Arrest Gets Sticky

Two San Francisco men, carrying some $600 worth of loot stolen from a Sausalito home, were stopped by San Diego County officers on July 1 as they crossed the border into Mexico.

Sausalito police, notified of the capture, promptly flew south and returned the prisoners to Marin, where they were booked on charges of burglary.

The prisoners — Olin Hill Jr., 23, and Maurice Kessler, 25 — did not come to trial.

Moreover, they walked out of court free as a pair of starlings only a few hours after the cell door had clanged shut behind them.

On July 1, Hill and Kessler were stopped by San Diego County officers, and search of their car disclosed items identified as having been among the burglary loot. Sausalito police were notified, and Lt. Ted Zink, acting chief during the vacation of Chief Kenneth H. Huck, sent two officers to San Diego to return the pair.

But on their arrival in Marin, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to file burglary charges against the pair, for lack of evidence. Sausalito officers, said Bales, "were unable to furnish my deputies with any fingerprints, other physical evidence, witnesses, or any direct or circumstantial evidence whatsoever to place either defendant in Marin County at the time of the burglary."

Lieutenant Zink at the time told the Independent-Journal: "I think there is considerable evidence to file a complaint. If not guilty, they have knowledge of the burglary."

Bales, however, pointed out that evidence was lacking to place Hill and Kessler, both San Francisco residents, at the scene of the crime or even in Marin County on June 25. They could not be prosecuted here for possession of stolen goods in San Diego County, he declared.

Zink subsequently, in a prepared statement, said, "I in no way meant to question the decision of the members of the district attorney's staff, and I have every confidence in their judgment and ability."

Since evidence was lacking for prosecution here, why were not the two men held for San Diego authorities?

Zink said the prisoners, and their release, was the responsibility of the sheriff, inasmuch as they were in his jail.

"Ridiculous!" said Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos. "The county jail is merely a facility for handling prisoners from all city agencies. This was a Sausalito investigation. It was their case, period."

It is unknown whether San Diego was interested in returning the prisoners there for prosecution. Nobody asked, it seems.

"There wasn't time," said Zink.

"This sort of thing happens all the time," said Bales.

Coach fare for two persons by air to San Diego is $37.34 plus tax. Return fare for four men is double that.

Novato Chamber Studies Change

The Novato Chamber of Commerce is considering establishing an associate membership, according to Richard P. Nave, president.

This would be given to employees of a member, Nave said. It would entitle them to discounts and other benefits such as health insurance, he said. There would be no dues and the associate member would not have voting rights.

If a majority of the members of the chamber favor such a plan, it could be instituted through a change in the by-laws, Nave said.

Duo Pianists Had To Live Up To Claim

The duo piano team of Whittemore and Lowe, whose recital Sunday at 3 p.m. in Forest Meadows at Dominican College will be the second in the Marin Music Chest summer series, did not become a team until the decision was forced on them.

The two related that once, to impress friends, they claimed to be a celebrated piano team. One young lady believed them and arranged a concert in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

They gave the concert and instead of failing were immediately signed for another concert.

Progammed for their Sunday recital are "Valse Nobles," Op. 77, Schubert"; "Mother Goose Suite" and "La Valse," Raves; variations on a theme of Haydn, Brahms, and "music of today," which will be announced from the stage.

Moose Picnic Set

The annual public picnic of the Novato Moose Lodge will be held all day Sunday at the Silviera Ranch on Highway 101, four miles north of Novato, according to Buell W. French, governor. There will be food, refreshments and games for all ages, French said.

Doctor Seeks Gifts For Mexico Visit

Alliance for Health, an incorporated, non-profit foundation, headed by Dr. Richard S. Hahn of Belvedere, has a varied list of needed equipment for its Aug. 1 health improvement trip to Zacapu, Mexico.

The foundation is looking for portable equipment for the trip. "We need portable equipment for mobility. Right now we don't have nearly as much as we need," reported Dr. Michael J. Franzblau of Terra Linda, who will work with Dr. Hahn in Zacapu.

The doctors need to borrow or otherwise obtain a land cruiser for the poorly developed Mexican roads, a 16 millimeter sound projector, 16 millimeter short subjects or cartoons in English or Spanish, a transistor tape recorder, a portable public address system, a portable gasoline-powered electric generator, a completely portable field type X-ray unit and processing laboratory, and a 16 millimeter Bolex type camera.

Besides giving immunization to 5,000 children, the doctors plan to teach the local population proper health care. "That's why we need the sound projection and the cartoons," said Dr. Franzblau.

Contributions to Alliance for Health may be made at 599 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

Alliance for Health was founded by Dr. Hahn with the philosophy that one should give what he can to his fellow man without regard to politics, race, religion or reward.

The doctors will be in Zacapu for one month.

Marin Coed Honored

Jean Houston of 63 Billou Street, San Rafael, was named to the dean's list for scholastic achievement during the second semester at the College of Idaho, Caldwell, Idaho.

Two Suspects Due In Court On Forgeries

Michael Lloyd Rainford, 28, of Oakland, and Daniel Raymond Leahy, 28, San Francisco, were transferred to Marin County Jail yesterday from San Francisco County Jail to face two counts of forgery.

The men and a third defendent, Neil Whitney Halvorsen, allegedly passed five forged checks — each under $50 — in Mill Valley last April 22-23 with intent to defraud Lynch and Sons Van and Storage Co. in San Francisco and the 2 A.M. Club , Mill Valley.

The second count alleges they passed five forged checks — three on April 27 and the others April 30 — in Novato with intent to defraud Village Inn, 7425 Redwood Highway.

Rainford and Leahy were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on the counts. The public defender's office was appointed to defend them and further hearing scheduled for this afternoon.

Halvorsen is not in custody.

Reckless Driving Brings $166 Fine

William F. Sheehy, 36, was fined $166 yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on an amended complaint charging reckless driving May 6 in Larkspur after his car rammed another vehicle at Bon Air Center.

Fish Crowded By Litterbugs

NEW YORK (AP) — Fishermen are warned against crowding game fish out of the water with litter.

C. R. Gutermuth, chairman of Keep America Beautiful's national advisory council, estimates that some 50 million people in the U.S. will go fishing this year.

"Each of these anglers, if he were a litter bug, would dump about a pound of rubbish into our streams, lakes and salt water — or along the shores," Mr. Gutermuth said. "That adds up to a potential of 50 million pounds of rubbish in a single season. At that rate, we would have more litter than fish."

Brown Grants Tidelands To Point Reyes Seashore

Gov. Edmund G. Brown has signed into law a bill which grants to the federal government all tide and submerged lands within the Point Reyes National Seashore.

The state reserves mineral rights and the right of the people to fish the waters. If the U.S. ceases to use the lands for public purposes, the rights and title revert to the state.

The governor also signed into law SB 733 by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael. The law provides that city ordinance to decrease the vehicle weight limits shall not apply to contractors' vehicles engaged in public works projects prior to the adoption of the ordinance.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, July 14, the 195th day of 1965 with 170 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter; the evening stars are Saturn and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1789, the French stormed the Bastille in Paris. The day is now commemorated as a national holiday in France.

In 1798, Congress passed the Sedition Act, making it a crime to publish any "false, scandalous and malicious" writing against the government, the Congress or the President.

A thought for the day: Novelist Thomas Mann said: "Time cools, time clarifies; no mood can be maintained quite unaltered through the course of hours."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sympathetic Expert Acts As Peacemaker At Bridge

When an opponent pounces on his partner, the best procedure is to make peace between them.

Opening lead — ◇ J

If you think that Lew Mathe overbid the South hand, practicalley everybody will agree with you.

ANNOYING HABIT

It's hard to find fault with him, however, because he has the annoying habit of making his impossible contracts.

Mathe ruffed the opening diamond, cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club in dummy.

He ruffed a second diamond in his hand, a second club in dummy and a third diamond in his hand. Then he led the fourth round of clubs.

DEEP THOUGHT

After deep thought West discarded his last diamond. Mathe ruffed the club in dummy and returned the king of diamonds. East put up the ace, and declarer carefully discarded a spade.

East shifted to a trump, but it was too late. Mathe took the ace of trumps, led a spade to the ace and ruffed a spade to win his 10th trick.

LAST DIAMOND

"You gave him the hand by leading the last diamond," West complained. "Just lead a trump, and he never sees daylight."

As East was getting ready to apologize, Mathe innocently asked West: "What would happen if you ruffed the fourth club with the king of hearts and returned a trump?"

It was East's turn to pounce on his partner, since this simple defense would have defeated the contract. Mathe said he was sorry he had brought it up since the opponents squabbled for fifteen minutes before he could make peace between them. It's a bad year for peace-makers.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:

♠ A 10 7 6 4
♦ K 7 6 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You would bid four spades if the overcall had been two clubs, but you should not jump the game with three small cards in the suit bid by an opponent. If partner has good distribution, he will bid again and you can then accept an invitation to game.

If You Have a bit of Victoria in your soul, and prefer the formal to the casual, here's the house you will like. The grounds are completely landscaped in the balanced, turn-of-the-century style (and require very little care). The living room is off an entry hall and has beautiful draperies (these go with the house) to accent the windows on the garden. There is a separate dining room and the kitchen has space for a breakfast table and for a grouping around the TV. A central hall leads to three large bedrooms and two baths —and again the draperies and shutters are delightfully Victorian and will be yours. Even the price is old-fashioned — just $36,950 at

RESOLUTION NO. 4046 U.S. RESOLUTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MILL VALLEY GIVING NOTICE OF PROPOSED ALTO CORRIDOR #1 ANNEXATION

WHEREAS, the City of Mill Valley desires to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY RESOLVED, ORDERED AND DECLARED as follows:

1. The City of Mill Valley has heretofore filed with the Secretary of the Boundary Commission of the County of Marin a proposal for the annexation of the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference including a map and specific legal description of the boundaries of said territory. Thereafter, the Boundary Commission of the County of Marin did prepare a report upon said proposed annexation with respect to the definiteness and certainty of the proposed boundaries, the non-conformance of proposed boundaries with lines of assessment or ownership, the creation of islands or corridors of unincorporated territory and other similar matters affecting the proposed boundaries. In said report, the Boundary Commission of the County of Marin did approve said proposed annexation.

2. The City of Mill Valley has heretofore filed with the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, a notice of intention to annex the territory more particularly described in Exhibit "A". Said notice contained the specific boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed. Thereafter, the Local Agency Annexation Commission of Marin County, after public hearing, did approve said proposed annexation.

3. The boundaries of the territory sought to be annexed by these proceedings are more particularly described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference.

4. Said annexation shall be designated the "Alto Corridor #1 Annexation".

5. The legislative body of the City of Mill Valley has initiated the proceedings for the annexation of said territory on its own motion without requiring a petition. Said proceedings will be conducted pursuant to the provisions of the Annexation of Uninhabited Territory Act of 1939.

6. The reasons why the City of Mill Valley desires said annexation are as follows:

(a) Said territory because of its location and other features should be governed in its development by the same zoning and planning regulations which govern territory within the City of Mill Valley.

(b) Because of its location, said territory will receive the benefit of and should therefore participate in supporting the municipal services of said city.

7. Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of August, 1965 at 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day or as soon thereafter as said matter may be heard in the Council Chambers in the City Hall, Mill Valley, California, the City Council of the City of Mill Valley will meet to hear written protests against the proposed annexation made by any person owning real property within the territory.

8. The City Clerk is hereby directed to cause a copy of this resolution to be published in the manner prescribed by Section 35311 of the Government Code of the State of California and said Clerk is further directed to give such other notice of the proposed annexation as may be required by law.

PASSED and ADOPTED at a meeting of the City Council of the City of Mill Valley on the 6th day of July, 1965 by the following vote:

College Men Tell Clothing Dislikes

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — College men are notoriously conservative in their dress — they have to be because their budget does not permit anything else. Their dislikes are sharp and vociferous and if they had a sudden windfall of money they would buy a three-quarter length suede outer coat.

Juniors from 25 colleges throughout the United States attended the fourth annual Young Man's Market Conference held by the Du Pont Company's Textile Fibers Department at the Du Pont Country Club. Some of their comments at various forums undoubtedly made their hosts blush.

They also may have embarrassed 10 visiting retail merchants from around the nation because they pulled few punches in describing their likes and dislikes. The retailers, for example, liked doubled breasted blazers. Tudor Williams, of Studio City, Calif., a student at the University of California, said of a retailer that "When I saw him wearing a double-breasted coat I thought the gentleman needed a new suit."

Another outspoken visitor was James R. Vrataric of Ann Arbor, Mich., a student at the University of Michigan and perhaps the best dressed man present. (He works in a campus clothing store).

Vrataric liked only imported V-neck Shetland sweaters and thought a display of synthetic fiber sweaters resembled a "disaster area." He thought college men would wear stretch clothes only when they were educated to it; he liked pin tab collars, longer length button downs, preferred blue or yellow, thought $50 tuxedoes would sell like wildfire and violently disliked side vents, double breasted coats and iridescent suits.

Robert Huntington Breed II of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a student at Yale, liked stretch socks but felt college men would not go for stretch fabrics in raincoats and pants because they thought they wouldn't last. He cast no votes for striped shirts in a poll because they weren't button down. And he made it practically unanimous in saying he would buy a side car coat for his Austin Healey if he had the extra money.

Charles Klaveness of Houston, Texas, a pre-med student at Tulane, hated stretch pants because he associated them with feminine ski pants, feared stretch shirts because he thought they would be form fitting (they are not), went for short sleeve dress shirts (BD) because of the climate and said if he had a lot of money he would get a heavy overcoat.

The students looked over hundreds of suits, raincoats, shirts, slacks, sweaters, shoes and chose what they considered the best looking and what they would chose for their own personal wardrobe. Here are some of the findings:

With a budget limiting them to about two suits they leaned toward classic natural shoulder three button models in muted patterns and weaves. Hopsacking weaves and gabardines vied with tweeds for top honors. Their selections showed a revival of green and olive tones. Their choice in sports jackets was just as conservative with heathery tweeds the favorite.

They revolted against anything except the plain front pants with belt loops and the leading colors were dark gray, olive, charcoal and black. White button down oxfords led the dress shirt parade followed by blue. Conservative stripes were third. BDs were favored because they can be worn as a sports shirt, or with a tie. In sports shirts Madras BDs were it. Knit shirts chosen were the old classics.

The vote in formal clothes was for black with shawl collars in medium weight fabrics. The split raglan sleeve and standard fly front raincoats were tops with all vetoing trench coats. In outer wear the choice was varied but most went for zip-out pile linings.

And what did they hate? side vents, double breasted coats, iridescent suits, fuzzy (imitation fur) outer coats, black and white saddle shoes (Rah Rah shoes), sweaters with wide designs, pants with self belts, coats with piping, pants with stretch, silk suits, shoes that weren't plain toe cordovans or black brogues.

Mowing Lawn Is Dangerous

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Men, are you tired of mowing the lawn? Just tell wifey that it's dangerous—you may get shot.

That's what happened to W. A. Johnson of Casper.

He was mowing the lawn of a Casper school grounds when his power mower struck and detonated a .22 caliber cartridge lying on the lawn.

The bullet struck him in the ankle.

Drying Up Riverton

RIVERTON, Wyo. (AP) — It may be purely coincidental but—

The Wyoming Beer Wholesalers had their convention in Riverton. A couple days later the Wyoming Liquor Dealers Association started its convention in Riverton.

As soon as that meeting was over, the Wyoming Alcoholics Anonymous opened its convention in Riverton.

High Altitudes

DENVER (AP)—Colorado has 54 of the 69 highest mountains in the United States and 75 per cent of all the area in the country that is over 10,000 feet.

New Fabric Store Opening This Summer

Chandler's Warp 'n Woof, specializing in fashion fabrics and related sewing notions and patterns, has secheduled the opening of its new store in the Northgate Shopping Center for midsummer.

This brings the chain of fabric stores to three — others being located in Stonestown and San Mateo.

The Northgate shop, covering more than 3,000 feet at 4000 Northgate Mall, will carry out Chandler's policy of featuring a complete and constantly changing assemblage of most seasonal fabrics, personally selected by the Chandlers from throughout the world. Selections will not only be in the popular price range, but will fill a need for finer fabrics of high fashion from the couturier centers of Paris, Rome, Zurich, Madrid and New York.

The new store will also feature a complete notions department devoted to basic and new sewing innovations. Included will be a full line of buttons of all types from here and abroad. A pattern department with comfortable seats and pattern bar will offer the latest fashions of McCall's, Vogue and Simplicity.

Stevan S. Chandler, son of the founders, will be Northgate manager. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip J. Chandler, will continue their active management and supervision of the chain operations.

Chandler's first opened its doors in 1946 on San Mateo Drive, San Mateo.

If A Dog Answers . . .

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Richard Wangerin, manager of the Louisville Orchestra, has some friends who own an ancient dog that was growing fat.

The veterinarian prescribed exercise and the couple learned by accident that the dog would run through the house every time the telephone rang.

Whenever the couple was away, they'd call home, knowing that old Rover was getting his workout.

A neighbor spotted what was happening. The next time the couple was away, he slipped into the house and waited for the phone to ring.

When it did, he picked up the receiver, panted loudly several times and then hung up.

Industrious Life At 92

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Thomas P. Tevlin recently observed his 92nd birthday on his fourth job.

Tevlin, who still drives to work, is a downtown parking lot attendant, being on duty four hours or more a day for six days a week.

The genial bachelor took the job after retiring from "teaming," which is hauling from distilleries to railheads; night watchman 11 years; and plat printing 43 years.

Buyers Ordering Clothes Now

Buyers from the nation's stores are placing orders for fall women's wear 10 to 40 per cent larger than last year, reports the New York Times.

"I believe the business we are now booking is the largest in our history," says David Schwartz, chairman of Jonathan Logan, Inc., the industry's largest company in terms of sales. "It just means that retailers expect to have an excellent fall season."

Underlying the strong buying pace are store expectations that the public has more money to spend and that consumers will respond to a number of fashion stimuli that are especially appealing in the new lines, producers say. Among these fashion notes are the younger styling of coats and suits, the "costume" or "total" look provided by matching coats and dresses or coat-dress-matching blouse combinations and the so-called British look.

Among retailers of all sorts of summer goods queried around the United States recently, nearly all those in areas that have enjoyed something other than atrocious spring weather are reporting sales ahead of last year.

In much of the country, women's swimsuits have gone on sale too recently to gauge the sales impact of the flesh-baring bikini styles, but a Long Beach store has reported 20 per cent more bathing suits sold than during the equivalent 1964 period.

Big inventories have been set in jewelry, furs, cosmetics, luggage and handbags, resulting from the long-anticipated repeal of excise taxes on these items. Price promotions in furs will overshadow fashion promotions.

Cooled Off Cash

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A tavern owner named Sam Cash told police he was decashed to the tune of $300. He hid the money in a beer cooler and someone smashed the lock.

Honest Abe's Head Stolen

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — A stone likeness of Abraham Lincoln's head which had stood for 25 years on its marble pedestal in front of Leo J. Monti's home is missing.

Monti said he carved the bust himself and placed it on a block of marble near the front door of his 125-year-old home.

Men's Wear Design Requires Engineering Plus Art Skills

By WALTER LOGAN

New York (UPI) — "Anybody can draw pretty sketches but to be a good designer of men's wear you have to know fabrics and engineering. You also have to know how to run a sewing machine."

This quote is from Edmund Roberts, who runs night classes in men's wear design at the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York.

The Institute is sponsored by the multi-billion dollar clothing industry which centers in and around some 6,000 firms in New York. The industry needs well-trained men and women and the F.I.T. fits 4,000 persons a year into creative careers in designing, manufacturing, merchandising and advertising.

But there was no specific school for design of men's wear in an industry where there are only a handful of top designers and where the output of one manufacturer is so similar to another's that most of it could come from the same warehouse.

So the F.I.T. announced an ambitions six-part program for developing new design ideas and interest in the men's wear industry to start next September. Roberts meanwhile began a pilot class in men's apparel design for volunteers willing to work late at night.

One of the students was Marcy Miller, 19, of Malverne, N.Y., a determined looking girl with a mass of hair piled on top of her head. Why was she studying men's wear design?

"I think a woman has a certain idea of how a man should look and she can create designs for him—any man," she replied.

"I like the very masculine look — broad shoulders, slim hips." She was working on a green suede forest green lounge suite. Her design also called for a tailored cotton shirt with an open neck and an ascot to match the lining of the suede coat. The coat itself was collarless with lots of stitching on the top of the jacket and with patch pockets. the pants were matching suede.

Another student was James Bernas, 21, of New York City. He was working on a design for a pair of leisure slacks with a zipper just above the knee so the pants can be transformed into Bermuda slacks with removal of the lower legs.

"You couldn't wear it for business," he said. "But if you were in town shopping or at the beach and it starts raining you can zip the pants legs back on." He also designed a matching jacket to make up a hot weather car suit.

"Starting out next semester I will try to work with fur but right now I haven't the slightest idea what I'll do," he said. "I don't want just to make a collar—but in panels or something. I'll work it out later."

NAN SUSAC entertains the entire family with her clown and puppet varieties each Tuesday from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Brothers 2 Restaurant in Northgate. She also appears frequently on Bay Area television and radio shows.

India Agreement

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has signed cultural exchange agreements with three Communist countries — Bulgaria, Roumania and Hungary. The pacts envision cooperation in art, science, technology and sport.

Brothers Two Restaurant Scores Big Hit At Center

A big hit has been scored at the Brothers Two Restaurant in the Northgate Shopping Center by versatile Nan Susac, as a part of the Tuesday "Family Night" program.

Although she appeals primarily to children with her puppet and clown acts, parents find it is both enjoyable and relaxing to take in her fresh approach to comedy and her puppet patter.

Nan has appeared as guest on local television and radio shows, and recently performed her puppets at the Committee. The Susac Theatre Studio in San Francisco, which Nan and her husband, Andy, operate, was the subject of the half-hour television show "On the Scene" with Dick Stewart.

Along with her work for children, Nan produces her own mime shows and has appeared as comedienne and mime at many functions. A fine dramatic actress as well, she has performed with such performers as George C. Scott and Ed Nelson.

Her program at Brothers Two is between 5:30 and 8:30 each Tuesday evening. Brothers Two is open daily from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sundays from 9:30 a.m.

Depleted Team —But Mighty

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — When Bob Seltzer's debate partner came down with the mumps, he carried on alone.

The 19-year-old Marietta College debater from Springfield, N.J., not only competed by himself against other two-man teams — he won.

Seltzer talked his way to victory over three other teams in a Chicago tournament after his teammate, Miss Dianne Pfalzgraf, 19, Parkersburg, W. Va., became ill.

Street Not Always So Well-Tailored

LONDON (AP) — Bond Street, perhaps the smartest and most fashionable of London's shopping streets, was once a muddy country lane infested with highwaymen.

It's divided between Old and New Bond Street as it runs from Piccadilly to Oxford Street. Old Bond Street was built in 1686; New Bond Street, in 1700.

Old-Time Republicans Did Well By Dixie

BERKELEY—Radical Republican rule in the post-bellum South, granting all its shortcomings, was by far the most democratic the South had ever known.

So concludes author Kenneth M. Stampp in his latest work "The Era of Reconstruction," 1865-1877 (Knopf, 1965).

Stampp, professor of American history on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, gives general currency to the findings of "revisionist" scholars of the past few decades.

"A half century ago," he says, "most historians were extremely critical of the reconstruction measures that congressional Republicans forced upon the defeated South. They used terms such as 'military despotism,' 'federal tyranny,' 'Negro rule,' and 'Africanization' to describe what white Southerners were forced to endure.

"More recently, the leaders of the resistance to civil rights legislation and racial integration have evoked the hobgoblins of reconstruction to advance their cause. Yet, during the past generation, historians have written numerous books and articles which demonstrate that many of the popular notions about the era of reconstruction are distorted or untrue."

Professor Tells Utility Of Area-Wide Government

LOS ANGELES, June 12—A sensible division of governmental chores between local and area-wide units has been suggested by Dr. Werner Z. Hirsch, professor of economics and director of UCLA's Institute of Government and Public Affairs.

In a recent issue of the National Tax Journal he writes that a careful study of economic, political and administrative considerations indicates that local urban governments are the most effective units for providing education, library service, public housing, public welfare, fire and police protection, refuse collection, parks and recreation, urban renewal and street maintenance.

"However, all citizens should receive about equal services in some areas, regardless of their ability to pay," he maintains. "Thus, while the services are provided locally, the federal government, which relies heavily on a progressive income tax, should finance education, welpublic health services, and hospitals. The state governments should also participate in this financing, though to a minor extent."

Services best provided on an area-wide basis, according to Dr. Hirsch, are air pollution control, sewage disposal, transportation, power, water, planning and hospitals.

"Most of these services," he writes, "can be both rendered and financed by county governments, although topography and population distribution may favor the first three (air pollution, sewage and transportation) to be the responsibility of multicounty units, possibly in the form of multipurpose districts Urban renewal and street maintenance can be provided by municipalities with some subsidies from county governments."

Fish Sure To Bite In Tank

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Night-time anglers have found a spot to fish in Port Elizabeth — the city's Oceanarium.

Colin Taylor, the curator, has found several fish swimming around with hooks and pieces of line hanging from their mouths.

The pool which had found favor with the nocturnal fishermen was the Oceanarium's small tank where specimens of salt water fish are kept.

For some time the curator had been puzzled by the mysterious loss of several prize exhibits. Police have established that people have been seen climbing up to the tank from the roof of an adjoining building, said Taylor.

Drunk Tank Life Sentence

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—City Judge Riley Graham says chronic drunks are serving life sentences on the installment plan.

The judge told the City Council that skidrow alcoholics spend more time in jail than some convicted murderers.

Graham was a member of a delegation from the Chattanooga Area Council on Alcoholism which asked the commission for funds to hire a full-time liaison officer to work with the chronic drunks.

Run-Around Is Honest

She grabbed the billfold, hopped into her car and gave chase for more than three miles.

She handed the billfold to a very surprised man who said it wasn't his so Mrs. Sherer returned to her restaurant with it.

There she found a coustomer waiting. He had put the billfold on the table when he went to the cashier's stand to settle his bill.

COWBOY'S LAMENT

Saddlemaker's Skill Vanishing In West

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—" . . . ten dollar hoss, forty dollar saddle, goin' to work punchin' Texas cattle . . . "

This is a verse from just one of countless trail songs which followed the working cowboy into Wyoming in territorial days.

Today, as Wyoming prepares for its 75th anniversary, the ten dollar hoss wouldn't — for that price — carry the working cowboy from the corral to the bunkhouse. The forty dollar saddle, through inflation, now likely tops the $100 mark.

T. J. Holmes, one of the last of Wyoming's old-time saddle makers and now the only one in Cheyenne, says mechanization and assembly-line work are two reasons the saddle maker of the old West is going the way of the buffalo.

Holmes is one of a breed of men who kept the working cowboy equipped. A transplanted Oklahoman who came to Wyoming as a cowboy at a young age, Holmes spent more than 20 years of cowboying and patching up leather equipment before he took up saddle making as a profession full time in 1945. It was in its declining years then.

A graying, bespectacled man of 58 who chews cigars and speaks and works in a slow, deliberate manner, Holmes says he repaired so much equipment he "got to sinking lower and lower and finally ended up like this."

Himself the son of a saddle maker, Holmes says he can't estimate the number of rigs he's put his trademark on, "but it's a batch." He says Wyoming still has a few saddle makers but it's not like it was years ago. "There used to one practically behind every bush," he says. "Here in Cheyenne old Fred Meanea used to have 25 or 30 men who did nothing but make and repair saddles and equipment. Blake Miller was another good Cheyenne saddle maker. I still work on saddles made in territorial days more than 75 years ago."

Holmes points out that saddles have changed over the years just as cowboying has changed. But now the saddle maker gets fewer requests for made-to-measure saddles because of the mass production of saddles in factories in the South and Midwest.

Holmes hasn't spent all his time turning out durable gear for the ordinary working hand. He's also turned his talents to the silver mounted, two-tone, padded fancy saddle, and more than a dozen rodeo cowboys have come away from Cheyenne's famed Frontier Days toting one of Tony's prized trophy saddles.

Holmes says if he works without interruption he can turn out a saddle in about a week. He says it takes a good ole "frog stranglin" rain storm to break in a saddle so it's comfortable and doesn't squeak. In time of drought he says he's known many a cowhand who just unloaded his rigging in a water tank or horse trough and left it there overnight so it would break in right.

Sitting on his "stitchin' hoss," which he salvaged from a saddle shop which long ago went out of business, Holmes squinted and said he learned to be a saddle maker without being an apprentice and "that ain't the way to do it. Nobody with a college education is going to get into the craft because there ain't enough money in it now, and the people who are in it today are in it mostly for the hobby.

"This ol' stitchin' hoss here," he said, "I got it from the old Fred Meanea shop to work with. A lot of people wanted it for an antique because it's sort of a collector's item. It's worth more to me than it is to them. It keeps breaking down and I keep fixin' it up, and I reckon after I'm finished with it and gone it won't make much difference where it goes then."

Children's Wear Off In A Blaze

DOWN MEXICO WAY

Record Crop Of Tourists Heads For Lands South Of The Border

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — More tourists than ever before are expected to go south of the border into Mexico this year.

Mexican government employees are at work to make sure travelers will encounter few problems.

Automobile travel differs little in Mexico from what the traveler is accustomed to at home, with the exception that Mexican people and animals seem to pay less attention when crossing roads and streets.

Experienced travelers say wandering animals offer sufficient hazards to make it unwise to drive cross country at night.

The larger border towns have airline connections to the interior at surprisingly nominal rates, and service on most lines is comparable to that of U.S. airlines.

Eduardo Garza Gonzalez, Reynosa, Mexican representative of the federal Departamiento de Tourismo, said in an interview that most tourists will travel in automobiles this summer.

"We're working with the hotels, motels, restaurants and all other places tourists normally visit to make this season run smoothly," he said.

The Departamiento de Tourismo is an important name for travelers to remember. The normal job of Garza Gonzales and other representatives is to give information, but Tourismo can be extremely helpful to the tourist who encounters problems.

Tourists do not need visas to visit border towns. For trips to the interior, 30-day permits are free. A six-month permit for a single entry costs $3 and a multiple entry six-month pass costs $5. The permits are available at points of entry or at Mexican consulates everywhere.

U.S. residents—who make up the majority of tourists entering Mexico—do not need passports. Simple identification is all that is needed. A driver's license or poll tax receipt will usually suffice.

"Tourists can eat with confidence in Mexico because the government maintains strict sanitary controls. There are still a few towns popular with tourists that don't have drinkable public water, but bottled water is available everywhere. Tourists should inquire locally about this," Garza Gonzales said.

The green tourist patrol pickup trucks Tourismo inaugurated a couple of years ago can be helpful for the motorist. The trucks carry a few of the most commonly needed parts, gasoline and water, and the drivers can change tires.

Petroleos Mexicanos, the government oil monopoly, has issued instructions to service stations to bring the stations up to U.S. standards.

The government also is beautifying border towns through its National Frontiers Program by building bridges and modern buildings to house customs and immigration offices. There is a continuing effort to bring roads all over the country to higher standards.

In addition to the attractions most tourists are aware of in Mexico, the country offers a wide range of cultural activities, eye opening architecture and a colorful history. Guides hired locally can point these out.

The cost of a Mexican vacation depends on the individual. The cash registers are oiled, but a surprisingly small amount of money will make the bells ring.

Ben's Letter Goes Through

ANCHORAGE, Ky. (AP)—Some Post Office clerk must have liked the letter that 5-year-old Ben Siebert of Fort Worth, Tex., sent to his grandfather at Anchorage.

The envelope carried this address:

The letter went through the canceling machine and was delivered without a hitch.

Top 200 Firms Hold Control Of Most Factories In U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Senate Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monoply during hearing on economic concentration have learned that the nation's top 200 firms are increasing acquisitions and bringing about a fundamental change in the economy.

Commerce Clearing House observes that if the largest firms continue to increase their share of the total assets of all manufacturing corporations at the present rate, by 1975 they would then control two-thirds of the total assets of such firms.

The top 200 corporations in 1962 held 54.6 per cent of all manufacturing assets in the country. It is a rise of 17 per cent since 1950, according to Federal Trade Commission testimony.

Since 1950 the "top 200" firms alone acquired 2,000 concerns with combined assets of about $17.5 billion.

Old Anchors Fished Up

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Shrimpers in the little fishing smacks "Lena" and "Boaventura" had a valuable catch off this coast the other day.

They fished up two ancient anchors which experts say date from the 15th Century, when the Portuguese explorers rounded and named the Cape of Good Hope for the first time in history.

One of the anchors still has its wooden haft, now petrified by time and tide.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHGATE INDUSTRIAL PARK

Across the highway and north of the Northgate Shopping Center, this planned industrial park, viewed by the artist as it should appear a few years from now, is already under construction. Sales agent Dohemann and Co. for the project reports that over 75 per cent of the initial units have been sold. Most construction is expected to be completed within five years.

Child Workers

NEW DELHI (AP) — A government study estimates India has 15 million child workers below age 15. Farmers employ children in the fields, city dwellers as domestic and personal servants.

Writer-Critic Contends Today's Poet 'Alienated'

SANTA BARBARA—The contemporary international poetic community is composed of "the alienated" in the estimate of a University of California professor of English who is himself a poet and critic.

Dr. Thomas W. Parkinson believes that "this estrangement is a rallying point for the young in this generation. They feel a need to improvise an articulation which will elucidate and dignify our world. This is what poetry is about."

In all all-university lecture on the UC campus here, Prof. Parkinson said, "The attraction poetry holds for serious young people is much like that of jazz and the movies. It represents a body of discovery — one which reveals a quality of life as it is, rather than as it should be," he continued.

Discussing the strains of modern poetry, Prof. Parkinson held that contemporary works are vastly learned, reflecting the influence of major and minor cultures throughout the world. While acknowledging Yeats, Pound and Eliot as the standard contemporary poets, Prof. Parkinson said Walt Whitman is the "most underestimated American poet."

He went on to predict that a reassessment of Whitman is forthcoming in American literature, particularly poetry.

Policy Number Is Too High

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A new policyholder wrote a Chattanooga insurance firm to question the number on his computer-prepared policy: 22470804-26310293200000747000000000000000-08.

He said he had a doctor's degree in electrical engineering and pointed out knowingly:

"There are about 150,000 grains in dirt or sand in every ounce of earth. If you were to insure every little grain by issuing an individually numbered policy to each . . . the number on my policy is still many hundred billion times greater."

His revised policy number: 22470804.

Inadequate State Control Of Smog Is Condemned

RIVERSIDE—Unless we learn to manage our air as we do any other natural resource, California is headed "for a bright future . . . of blackened skies." Already Southern California is an "atmospheric cesspool."

This was the grim message of Dr. John T. Middleton, director of smog research at the University of California, Riverside, who recently called for area-wide planning to attack the problem. There must be "resource management to provide the most beneficial use of air for the most people," he said.

Dr. Middleton deplored the action of the Riverside County Board of Supervisors in withdrawing from the state program requiring smog control devices on all cars in the county by the end of this year. This action had occurred, he asserted, in the very county where research (at UCR) established the efficacy of the devices, in the very county where smog damage to crops has been clearly established.

Dr. Middleton — speaking at the University Extension lecture course on "The Urban Environment"—said about 80 per cent of the pollution in Southern California is produced by motor vehicles each of which dumps about six and one-quarter pounds of "junk" into the air daily.

Among other ways he suggested for controlling creation of smog: retention or creation of large open spaces between urban areas in which air pollutants can be dissipated; better management and location of freeways; better land use control (for example, placement of power generation plants which pollute air away from urban areas).

California has no monopoly on smog, Dr. Middleton went on. Any city anywhere in the country with a population of about 150,000 or more has an air pollution potential.

Those infamous "inversion layers," nature's atmospheric "lids" which prevent the air from dispersing pollutants, can happen anywhere, he said, "even on the plains of Nebraska."

Statistics show, he declared, that in the period 1932-37 visibility of 35 miles or more was possible 14 per cent of the time.

Today, visibility that good is possible only about 8 per cent of the time, he said.

75 Pct. Interest

NEW DELHI (AP) — A government survey in Mysore state showed some moneylenders charge 75 per cent interest on short-term loans to poverty-stricken farmers.

Russ Fail On Waste Elimination

LOS ANGELES — Economic waste, which socialism claims to eliminate or tightly control, is a conspicuous feature of the Soviet production of consumer goods.

Ironically, waste in Russian consumer goods has arisen from a better selection of products available to the public.

So reports Dr. Barry M. Richman, associate professor of business administration at UCLA, in a book "Soviet Management," recently published by Prentice-Hall.

The new book deals with the various factors in Soviet politics, economics, and culture which influence management in that country and compares them with similar factors in the American economy.

"In the past almost any products produced in the Soviet Union could be used by somebody, regardless of their type or quality. In recent years, however, the basic human needs have been generally filled, and consumers have become more reluctant to pay hard-earned money for shoddy merchandise," Dr. Richman says.

For this reason, and because of the inability of trade officials to predict consumer demand accurately, large quantities of less desirable merchandise have piled up in warehouses.

At the Central Department Store in Moscow the unsalable shoe inventory increased by nearly 1,000,000 rubles in 1959. From 1959 to 1960, the shoe inventory of the region increased from 28.5 to 43.8 rubles, and most of the increase reflected unsalable goods, Dr. Richman believes.

"Mounting inventories of unsalable consumer goods have compelled the Soviets to engage in such capitalistic practices as price cutting and advertising," he adds.

THIS BLUE AND WHITE "Dresden" print looks just like fine china. The fully lined jamaicas are in matching solid Dresden blue. Both blouse and shorts are of fine dacron polyester and cotton.

SHOE FASHIONS TO KEEP YOU YOUNG

This strappy sling by Qualicraft catches the youthful spirit with its lively little heel, high-buckled cutout vamp and softened oval toe. Uppers of white crushed leather make it a perfect partner for every color. It is one of the new looks you will see at Leed's Northgate store.

SUITING APPROACH — Sheldon Mills' linen-like weave of rayon and triacetate keeps the shape in this suit and the wrinkles out. The easy fitting cardigan jacket puts a definite edge on this disarmingly simple ensemble with contrasting ric-rac trim. Tailored by Tudor Square.

The highest geographic point in New England is atop 6,288-foot Mt. Washington in New Hampshire. Rhode Island has the lowest high point of any of the six New England States—Jerimoth Hill, 812 feet above sea level.

Letter Detours Via Viet Nam

GROVE CITY, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Alfred Hall of Grove City was puzzled when a Columbus department store reported it hadn't received the check she mailed.

But a letter from Viet Nam a couple of months later explained it.

"I found this in a large unsealed envelope that was addressed to myself," Marine Cpl. Walter Ranke Jr. whote Mrs. Hall. "I am on station in South Viet Nam and being a resident of Grove City at one time I thought you deserved an explanation for the delay in your letter."

Ranke theorized that Mrs. Hall's letter with the check had slipped inside the unsealed envelope addressed to him.

Suspicious Character

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Casper Police Chief Paul Danigan, seeing a person furtively drop a package in a city park, took down the man's auto license number, then picked up the package.

Broken Pots Helping Thaw Out Cold War

LOS ANGELES — American-Soviet relations are going to pot.

Which is just wonderful, according to a history lecturer at UCLA who collects pottery. Or, to be more exact, he collects bits and pieces of pottery.

He is Jay D. Frierman, who recently received in the mail a box of 12th and 13th Century pot sherds (or shards) from Soviet Georgia. He found them so unusual that he sat down and rewrote a scholarly paper he has just completed on Caucasian pottery.

Though the sherds reflect the influences of Persian, Chinese and Medieval Byzantine pottery, they reveal glazes and techniques found nowhere else in the world but in Georgia.

Frierman expressed amazement both at the excellence of the examples ". . . significant pieces, large, brightly colored with full designs") and at the speed with which his benefactor, V. V. Djaparidze of the State Museum of Georgia, Tiflis, responded to his query.

"I don't know Dr. Djaparidze, but he did something you might expect a good friend to do — only a lot faster."

Asked if broken pots have any value in the study of history, Frierman replied:

"Why, pot sherds, are an historian's best friend. And his most plentiful. As well as his cheapest. And his most unbiased. Through them he can trace the contact of peoples; this swapping of ideas that constitutes cultural transmission.

"Pot sherds," he added, "are the basis of much archaeology. One would have to deliberately, meticulously and laboriously grind them to powder to silence their story."

His first, irreversible step was taken when he studied the Indians of the American Southwest, makers of some of the world's best pottery.

After that, one pot led to another until he came under the spell of those of the Caucasus: Azerbaijan, Armenia, Georgia and Persia.

Earthquake Engineering Course Planned At Cal

BERKELEY — An intensive six-day course on earthquake engineering, conducted by prominent California structural engineers and authorities from the University of California and the California Institute of Technology, will be presented Aug. 30-Sept. 4 on the UC campus at Berkeley.

The course, intended for professional engineers, will deal with the design and analysis of earthquake-resistant structures. It will incorporate the results of recent research, including studies of the Alaskan quake of March, 1964.

Major topics to be covered are faulting and earthquake characteristics; tsunamis (seismic sea waves); soil behavior; analysis of structural response; and design of concrete and masonry dams, towers and chimneys, and other structures.
